PRINCETON THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

ALUMNI NEWS

AUTUMN, 1966

These are exciting days in theological education and in the Seminary. Enrollment continues to grow, services have been expanded, facilities are being developed and others clamor for development, and the challenge to keep pace with educational development and human need grows at a rapidly accelerating speed. Today it is even more axiomatic than in the past that unless an institution grows it stagnates. This does not mean numerical growth exclusively or even primarily. It means total growth in terms of program, in depth of understanding, in services, in research, in experience for faculty and students, and in commitment to the finest in theological education for the Church of Jesus Christ.

Princeton has now reached the point where facilities and services must be expanded at every level of its program. While the official enrollment is 563 students, the campus population is in excess of 600. This figure represents the addition of doctoral candidates, who are not counted as students after the requirement of two years of residence has been fulfilled but are in Princeton writing dissertations, and fifteen Visiting Fellows in residence, many of whom are professors on sabbatical from sister institutions. The acquisition of the Princeton-Windsor apartments is responsible for much of this growth. In addition the Center of Continuing Education continues its yearround program and has averaged 900 ministers per year during its four-year life. Every alumnus has a cordial invitation to return to the Center at some time during the year for one of its seminars.

In order to grow in usefulness and to expand its services the Seminary must not only balance an annual budget that is caught in an inflationary spiral but must successfully complete its Decade of Development campaign of $18,000,000. Participation in the Fifty Million Fund is a step towards this goal, since the Seminary is included in the Fifty Million Fund for just over a million and a half dollars. By giving to this Fund and designating it for Princeton, your congregation and your people will be contributing to two drives. Let me urge you to request your congregations and individuals in your churches who are in the big gifts category to designate their gifts for the two remaining Princeton Seminary projects, the Power Plant and the Princeton-Windsor Apartments. We have received designations for only a little over one million dollars, and we face the prospect of securing nearly that much again before the Fifty Million Fund closes.

The Decade of Development program has been muted in various parts of the Church because of the priority of the Fifty Million Fund. However, we have been most active in attempting to secure gifts for scholarship endowment. There is a desperate need to raise five million dollars in order to put a solid footing under the scholarship program. One alumnus recently spoke to one of his members about this need, and the result is an endowed scholarship fund in the amount of $50,000. There are persons of sufficient wealth and interest to fund the full amount of five million dollars within the next few years.

The seminaries are, from a financial point of view, in the most unenviable position of any institutions of higher learning today. The government has awakened to the responsibility for financing higher education and is beginning to pour billions into colleges and universities. The seminaries, however, are specifically excluded from these programs. This means that alumni and friends of the Seminary must accept this challenge and provide resources that will enable us to compete as an equal with the best public and private institutions. And Princeton's responsibility is to set the pace for all theological schools in quality, services, and resources. It is an enormous task but it is worth the effort, and no school ever had richer resources in alumni and friends with which to meet the challenge. Let us covenant anew to work and pray for God's guidance and blessing in our common task of educating the Church's ministry, widening the horizons of theological understanding, and serving the Church and the world as heralds of the good news of reconciliation and redemption in Jesus Christ.

Faithfully yours,
James I. McCord

INCREASE IN B.D. — M.R.E. STUDENTS BREAKS ENROLLMENT RECORD

□ Student enrollment at Princeton Theological Seminary increased for the fourth consecutive year according to figures released by Dr. James F. Armstrong, Registrar. 563 students registered for the fall semester, which began September 22, constituting a record student body for the Seminary.

373 B.D. - M.R.E. students make up 66% of the total student enrollment with the remaining 34% engaged in Th.M. or Th.D.

studies. 131 of the B.D. - M.R.E. students are in their first year of study on the Princeton campus as Juniors, while Middlers and Seniors make up the remaining 242 students in the two programs.

During the last three years the number of students enrolled in Th.M. programs of study has virtually doubled, according to Armstrong. With the beginning of classes this fall, 122 candidates were actively engaged in a variety of Th.M. programs. At the same time there are 34 Th.D. candidates and 34 special students (both graduate and undergraduate).

Since 1960, enrollment has moved upward, with the current figures representing an increase of more than 33% in total enrollment compared to the 1960 figure. In 1956 the Seminary established a record enrollment of 500 students. That record high was broken in 1963 when 512 students were enrolled for the fall semester.

ALUMNUS DELIVERS COMMUNION SERMON

The Reverend Dr. Paul Verghese, Princeton Seminary graduate, Associate Secretary of the World Council of Churches, and Bishop-elect of the Syrian Orthodox Church, gave the communion meditation at the opening service of Holy Communion, September 21.

Using John 6:41-58 as his text, Dr. Verghese chided the intellectual community for often hiding behind a maze of complex and qualified statements made in answer to questions which call for succinct answers. He asserted that we must be ready to clear away this kind of haze if we are to get to the concerns at hand.

Dr. Verghese pointed out that Peter was called by his Lord to turn away from his profession as a fisherman to become a shepherd. Verghese asserted that in this distinction lies one of the critical challenges of the modern Church: "The Church must become more concerned with shepherding the flock — meeting the needs of people — and less concerned with being 'fishers of men' — pure evangelism."

Dr. Verghese contended that with an emphasis on "shepherding," the Church need not be preoccupied with evangelism. For, if man becomes aware of a shepherd-like concern of the Church, he will respond in a much more profound manner than he now responds to pure evangelism.

VISITING PROFESSOR GIVES OPENING ADDRESS

The 155th Academic Year of Princeton Theological Seminary was officially opened September 20 with the traditional Convocation Service in Miller Chapel. Visiting Professor Dr. Arend Th. van Leeuwen spoke on "Religious Pluralism and World Community" before a capacity Miller Chapel audience.

Dr. van Leeuwen noted that a common area of concern of all religious disciplines is the challenge of secularization. Van Leeuwen said the response of the several disciplines has been a paradoxical one. While on the one hand labeling secularity as an enemy of religion, the several disciplines at once consider themselves "consonant" with the contemporary world.

Dr. van Leeuwen sees the challenge of secularization as an issue from which the religions of the world cannot divorce themselves. He particularly emphasized the necessity of the involvement of religion in world politics.

After a brief review of the basic concepts of the major world religions (Buddhism, Confucianism, Islam, and Christianity) van Leeuwen indicated areas of common agreement and concern. Moving from this common ground, said Dr. van Leeuwen, the major world religions can find a basis on which to synthesize a pluralistic world community in which their respective faiths can witness.

LECTURE SERIES SCHEDULED

Roland H. Bainton of Yale, James M. Robinson of the Southern California School of Theology, and Johannes C. Hoekendijk of Union Seminary in New York will deliver major lecture series at Princeton Theological Seminary during the current academic year, President James I. McCord has announced.

□ Hoekendijk, Professor of Missions at Union Theological Seminary in New York, will initiate the series November 21-22 as the lecturer for the Students' Lectureship on Missions. Following will be the L. P. Stone Lectureship, scheduled for February 6-9, with Roland H. Bainton, Titus Street Professor Emeritus of Ecclesiastical History at Yale Divinity School, as guest lecturer. The three-part series will be concluded with the Annie Kinkead Warfield Lectureship on March 27-31. James M. Robinson, Professor of New Testament at the Southern California School of Theology, will give the concluding lectureship of the year.

Dr. Hoekendijk, a native of Garut, Indonesia, attended the Missionary Training Institute, Oegstgeest, and the University of Leiden, Holland, receiving his final degree from the University of Utrecht in 1940. He has a distinguished record of service to the Church in the area of missions and ecumenics.

From 1947-49, Hoekendijk served as the General Secretary of the Netherlands Missionary Council in Amsterdam. In 1949, he assumed his duties as Secretary for Evangelism of the World Council of Churches and served in that capacity

WORK BEGUN ON NEW HEATING AND MAINTENANCE CENTER

Princeton Seminary broke ground September 6 for its first construction project in a decade — a $1,000,000 heating and maintenance center to replace the sixty-year-old heating plant condemned as unsafe in 1965.

President James I. McCord turned the first shovel of earth for the new facility, which will give the Seminary its first centralized repair and maintenance shop and adequate garage space for maintenance vehicles as well as new heating equipment.

ABOVE: The architect's drawing of the $1,000,000 heating and maintenance center now under construction on College Road West at the southwest corner of the campus.

☐ The old heating plant near Hodge Hall and the Campus Center, built in 1909 to provide steam for both the Seminary and the University's graduate college, was shut down permanently in 1965 when inspectors ruled the aging boilers no longer safe.

During the 1965-1966 school year steam was supplied to the Seminary campus from Princeton University's main lines to the graduate college, which were installed in the early 1960's. The arrangement was repeated for the current school year. By September 1967 the Seminary's new steam plant will be in operation.

The construction of an expanded heating facility was already under planning when the old boilers failed inspection. Both the Campus Center and Speer Library had added major demands to the heating system, and such projected new buildings as a classroom building would have required new heating equipment.

Because of the pressing need for expanded heating capacity, the new steam plant was accepted as an approved item in the United Presbyterian $50,000,000 Fund campaign. A portion of the construction cost has already been provided by local congregations which have designated their $50,000,000 Fund gifts for Princeton Seminary. Other Seminary projects in the capital funds campaign include financing for the married students apartments acquired in 1965, and funds for the purchase of the Princeton Borough Hall property for campus expansion.

The new center will give Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds Thomas W. Brian the first complete maintenance facility in the history of the Seminary. Currently Mr. Brian is forced to use a number of dormitory basements for shops and storage space, with a resulting difficulty in getting materials and men to places of need.

The construction schedule calls for the heating and maintenance center to be ready for occupancy in the summer of 1967.

NEW FACULTY AND STAFF ANNOUNCED BY PRESIDENT

Dr. Arend Th. van Leeuwen, Director of the Church and World Institute of the Netherlands, is serving as Visiting Professor of Christian Ethics during the current semester. His is one of ten appointments announced for the year by President James I. McCord.

In addition to van Leeuwen, new faculty members include Dr. James S. Irvine, formerly Librarian at Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, who assumed his duties as Assistant to the Librarian at Princeton Seminary in July, and six new instructors. Also announced was the appointment of Clarence E. Reed to the post of Director of Housing and Student Employment, and of Adrian L. Pugin as chief accounting officer.

A native of Princeton Junction, Reed joined the Seminary business staff in 1934 upon his graduation from Princeton High School. He has served as an Assistant to the Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings and as cashier during his association with the Seminary.

In his new office Reed will be responsible for Princeton Seminary's entire housing program, including the recently acquired Princeton-Windsor Apartments and all campus dormitories and apartments, as well as the Seminary's program of assisting students and student wives in finding employment in the Princeton area.

Reed has long been active in education affairs, serving last year as President of the Board of Education of West Windsor Township. He was a member of the Board for nine years, and for seven additional years was the Board's secretary. He has been Vice President of the Mercer County Association of Secretaries of Boards of Education, and Treasurer of the Penns Neck Civic Association, as well as a member of the West Windsor Board of Elections. Reed is an Elder on the Session of the First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck. He is married to the former Marie T. Bennett of Robbinsville, New Jersey. The couple has three children, Mrs. Shirley Ann Cortelyou of Newark, New Jersey, and two sons who reside at the family home.

Adrian L. Pugin, new chief accounting officer, is a graduate of New York University and a Certified Public Accountant. He has been a senior accountant and tax specialist with Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., of New York, and most recently was a senior accountant with the I.B.M. World Trade Corporation in New York.

The six new instructors are:

Terence E. Fretheim, Instructor in Old Testament. A graduate of Luther College in Iowa and Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul, Minn., Fretheim also did graduate work at the University of Minnesota and in 1960-61 was a Fulbright Scholar at the University of Durham, England. Fretheim is currently completing his doctoral dissertation at Princeton Seminary

STATED CLERK INSTALLED IN CAMPUS SERVICE

UWilliam Phelps Thompson, newly elected Stated Clerk of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., was installed in Miller Chapel on the Seminary campus, October 17, in a service which included representatives from more than 20 Roman Catholic, Orthodox, and Protestant

In his installation address, Dr. Thompson asserted that the Church must "penetrate the structure of society" in order that "new followers of Christ may find the Word preached there." In pledging a continuation of efforts to achieve union, Dr. Thompson said: "If we are to go forward with any degree of effectiveness, we cannot continue apart."

The Reverend Ganse Little, Moderator of the 178th General Assembly, administered the Installation Questions to Dr. Thompson. Reverend Robert W. Youngs, pastor of the new Stated Clerk's home church, gave the Charge of Office, imploring Dr. Thompson "to be what you are:

layman, lawyer, administrator, scholar, and architect of the future."

Prior to the Service of Installation, guests gathered at the Princeton Inn for luncheon. President James I. McCord introduced distinguished guests from other communions after a brief welcome to Princeton.

Following the service, which took place before an overflow crowd, a reception in honor of Dr. Thompson and his family was held in the Campus Center.

Youngs, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Wichita, Kan., where Mr. Thompson is a ruling elder, the Reverend Dr. Theophilus Taylor, Secretary of the United Presbyterian General Council; and the Reverend Dr. Ganse Little, Moderator.

Dr. S T Kimbrough, Jr., who received his Doctor of Theology degree from Princeton Seminary at the June, 1966, Commencement, Instructor in Biblical Studies. A graduate of Birmingham Southern College and Duke University Divinity School, Kimbrough has worked as a radio announcer and a scholar conductor, baritone soloist and lecturer in church music in addition to the academic pursuits that earned him a Phi Beta Kappa membership. He held Methodist pastorates in Alabama, North Carolina, and New Jersey before completing his doctoral studies.

Also completing doctoral studies is Jack M. Maxwell, Instructor in Homiletics this Fall. A graduate of the University of Texas and Princeton Seminary, Maxwell was active in the work of the Faith and Life Community in Austin, Texas, before coming to Princeton Seminary. The Community is widely known for its experimental program in Christian worship and its efforts to provide religious and theological training for students engaged in secular education programs.

Dr. Coval B. MacDonald, Instructor in Pastoral Theology. Since 1962 the minister of Trinity Presbyterian Church of Oak Lawn, Illinois, MacDonald was previously the chaplain at the University of Chicago Hospital, and in 1965 received his Ph.D. degree from Chicago. A magna cum laude graduate of Gordon College and an honors graduate of Fuller Theological Seminary, MacDonald also earned the degree of Master of Sacred Theology at Harvard Divinity School.

Doctor James S. Irvine, new member of the Speer Library staff, was graduated from Washington and Jefferson College and Western Theological Seminary. He earned his Doctor of Philosophy degree at Johns Hopkins, and received the degree of Master of Library Science from the Carnegie Institute of Technology. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Irvine had served as Pittsburgh Seminary's librarian since 1958.

Visiting Ethics Professor Arend Th. van Leeuwen is currently engaged in a special study of Communism, involving consultations with Eastern European Churches. A specialist in the field of Christian missions, he conducts a program at the Church and World Institute that aims at mobilizing both ministers and laymen for ecumencial service in the modern secular world. Originally intending to serve as a missionary in Indonesia, he studied Oriental languages and the Islamic religion, served for four years as chaplain to Indonesian students in Holland, and was for a time at Azhar University in Cairo before going to teach in a theological seminary in East Java. His much-discussed volume Christianity in World History, which appeared earlier this year, challenges many traditional theories in the fields of mission work and contacts with non-Christian religions.

GOSLIN, MASSA, MUNGER VIE FOR TRUSTEESHIP

Three alumni currently serving as ministers of congregations have been nominated for a three-year term as Alumni Trustee on the Seminary's Board. Ballots printed in this issue of ALUMNI NEWS will be used by former students in the election.

In the race are: Thomas S. Goslin, '44, minister of the Doylestown, Pennsylvania, Presbyterian Church; Gonrad H. Massa, '54, minister of the Third Church, Rochester, New York; and Robert Boyd Munger, '36, minister of University Presbyterian Church, Seattle, ROBERT BOYD MUNGER came to Princeton Seminary from the University of California, where he was graduated in 1932. Receiving his B.D. in 1936, he was called to the South Hollywood, California, Presbyterian Church, and served in that pastorate until 1945, when he went to the First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley, California.

In 1962 Munger accepted the call of University Presbyterian Church in Seattle. In his current charge, as in his former Berkeley pastorate, he is responsible for a congregation with a major responsibility for students on a nearby campus. University Church sponsors overseas service projects, primarily for collegians. During Dr. Munger's ministry more than 250 young people have entered church occupations from his pastorates.

Munger is a frequent conference and religious emphasis program speaker. He has taken part in such programs on the campuses of Whitworth College, Dubuque University, the University of British Columbia, and Redlands University, and has also taken part in the U.S. Air Force Spiritual Life Conference. Since 1961 he has served as a member of the United Presbyterian Commission on Ecumenical Missions and Relations.

Munger is the author of What Jesus Says. In 1947 Whitworth College conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity.

CONRAD HARRY MASSA is an honors graduate of Columbia University and the holder of both the B.D. and Th.D. degrees from Princeton Seminary. Completing his Seminary undergraduate work in 1954, he went to the pastorate of the Elmwood Presbyterian Church in East Orange, New Jersey, where he guided the congregation in becoming integrated and in the election and installation of the first Negro elder in Morris and Orange Presbytery. In 1957 Massa became a member of the Princeton Seminary faculty, serving as instructor and then assistant professor of Homiletics. He has published articles on liturgics, architecture, and preaching, as well as book reviews.

In 1961, Dr. Massa was called to Old First Church, Newark, where he served a five-year period during which the congregation established a store front ministry and community center, cleared a long-standing indebtedness, and undertook major restoration of the historic church. The congregation also established a twenty-four hour service for alcoholics and their families, and Massa was named the first president of the Board of Clearview Halfway House, a rehabilitation center for alcoholics.

Since 1965 Massa has been chairman of the Committee on Theology of the Board of National Missions' Council on Evangelism. He also serves on the Committee on Theological Study of the Bases for the Church's Action in the World, a group composed of representatives of the three program agencies of the United Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Massa is a former President of the Protestant Council of East Orange, was delegate to the NCC Conference on Policy and Strategy in Social Welfare in 1957, conducted a 1959 preaching mission in Cuba, and served as a commissioner to the 1960 General Assembly. He has held numerous Presbytery and Synod assignments, including the Synod's Christian Education Committee and its Commission on Religion and Race.

THOMAS STRATTON GOSLIN was graduated from Princeton Seminary in 1944 after a two-year accelerated program. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Yale University, Goslin received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1949. In addition to a graduate fellowship at Penn, he was the recipient of a Graduate Study Fellowship from the United Presbyterian Board of Christian Education.

From 1943 to 1945 Goslin was the minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Paulsboro, New Jersey, and then until 1951 served in the pastorate of the First Church of Millville, New Jersey. In 1951 he went to Argentina as a theological educator for the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations, serving until 1957 at Union Theological Seminary in Buenos Aires where he taught history and practical theology, and later served as dean of admissions, vice-president and acting president.

In 1957 Goslin was called to Doylestown, Pennsylvania, and continues in the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church of that community. He has previously served as Moderator of West Jersey Presbytery and as a member of the General Assembly's Department of History, and is a former president of the Central Bucks County, Pennsylvania, Ministerial Association. ### ALUMNUS CELEBRATES 100th BIRTHDAY

George Handy Wailes, a member of the Class of 1897 and from 1928 to 1937 Visiting Professor of Hebrew at the Seminary, celebrated his 100th birthday in August. Born August 22, 1866, in Salisbury, Maryland, Dr. Wailes has returned to Salisbury to make his residence.

Ordained by the Presbytery of Philadelphia, he served until 1908 as the minister of the Scots Church of Philadelphia before becoming a member of the Temple University faculty. His tenure at Temple extended from 1906 to 1949, and from 1908 to 1919 he also taught at Ursinus College.

Dr. Wailes was stated supply at Calvary Church, Highland Park, Pennsylvania, from 1916 to 1924, and also taught from 1919 to 1929 at the Theology Seminary of the Reformed Episcopal Church in Philadelphia.

He has granted permission to quote from a recent letter:

"Dear Dr. McCord:

I thank you for your kind letter extending congratulations upon my one hundredth birthday.

The eight years in which I gave courses in Hebrew at the Seminary have provided me with precious memories.

The members of the faculty were so cooperative, consenting to a readjustment of the entire afternoon schedule in order to help me, and the students were so responsive that the periods in the classroom were a 'real delight' to me.

May God bless you all in your noble effort to give to the Church and to the world well-trained ambassadors for Christ."

Attendance at the 1966 Princeton Institute of Theology, held July 5-14, included a large contingent of chaplains led by Chaplain Harry C. Wood, Executive Secretary of the Department of Chaplains and Service Personnel. Taking part in the Institute were (left to right):

FRONT—Chaplains Howard W. Fritz, Robert R. Wilson, Martin J. Bohn, Simon H. Scott, Department member Lloyd S. Hindman, Chaplain Dean K. Veltman, Associate Executive Secretary Albert C. Wildman, Executive Secretary Harry C. Wood, Chaplains Clarence L. Reaser, Richard D. Hayward, Department member K. Warriston McCracken, Chaplain Christian H. Martin, Jr.; MIDDLE—Chaplains John M. Hughes, David H. Fitzsimmons, Richard A. George, Robert W. Moser, Gale M. Dunham, Gray G. Johnson, Stanley C. McMaster, Richard K. Dwyer, Kermit D. Johnson, Rev. Robert Bunting, Chaplain Earl S. Bloxham; REAR—Chaplains Robert E. Blade, Jerry L. Rice, Richard E. Robinson, Leonard S. Edmonds, Ralph K. Willers, Neil M. Stevenson, Stewart P. Robinson, Richard D. Clewell, Allen D. Ackley, Jr., J. Hayden Lampe, King D. S. Pogue, Gordon M. Schweitzer, William E. Foreman, Philip B. Bliss. Not present for the photograph were Department Chairman Edward Brubaker, Chaplains Warren L. Bost, Roger O. Braaten, Norman R. Brown, John P. Ettershank, Jr., T. David Parham, Glenn R. Pratt, Eli Takesian.

The 1966 Alumni Roll Call closed its books with a total of $32,862.10 in gifts, Vice President Robert M. Skinner, '34, announced October 15. In surpassing its $25,000 goal the annual campaign marked up new records in total gifts, average gifts, and percentage of alumni taking part.

"A total of 1,018 former students contributed to the Roll Call," Skinner said, "a slight increase over the previous year's high of 1,007."

The average gift for 1966 was $28.77, up from $14.76 the previous year, and 20.3% of Princeton Seminary's former students sent contributions and pledges as compared with 18.4% in 1965.

"The total giving was increased by a $10,500 bequest from an alumnus," Skinner said. "While gifts of this size are unusual in Seminary alumni giving, the total amount is within reach of the combined effort of an alumni body as large as Princeton Seminary's."

The Roll Call result is more than three times the total received in 1964. Recent classes still lead the alumni body in terms of number of gifts. The class of 1966 started early, and had received contributions from twenty members before September 30

Announcements of the 1967 Roll Call will reach alumni early in December, and the ALUMNI NEWS will carry a progress report in the Winter, 1967, issue. Here is the final report on class giving for 1966:

TWO LONG-TIME FACULTY MEMBERS DECEASED DURING SUMMER

Kenneth Sperber Gapp, Princeton Seminary Librarian since 1937 and a faculty member since 1934, and Frederick W. Loetscher, Professor of Church History Emeritus and an active member of the faculty for thirty-eight years, died during the summer months. Memorial minutes prepared by their colleagues on the faculty are printed in the current issue of the Princeton Seminary Bulletin.

Professor Gapp died July 5, 1966, at the Graduate Hospital in Philadelphia. Nearing his sixty-first birthday at the time of his death, Gapp was a former President of the American Theological Library Association and one of the nation's leading authorities in the field of theological librarianship. Recognized dean of American theological librarians, Gapp supervised a theological collection considered the finest in the Western Hemisphere, and guided the planning and construction of the Robert E. Speer Library, completed in 1956 to house the collection.

Death came as a result of complications following heart surgery. In addition to his wife, Anne Bowman Gapp, he is survived by a son, Kenneth Bowman Gapp, a college student; a brother, Samuel Gapp of Philadelphia; and a sister, Mrs. Herman Kolwey of Fairmont, West Virginia.

Professor Frederick W. Loetscher, Professor Emeritus of Church History at Princeton Theological Seminary, died at the Princeton Hospital, July 31, after a brief illness. He was ninety-one years old.

Dr. Loetscher retired in 1945 after thirty-eight years as an active member of the Princeton Seminary faculty. Named Professor Emeritus upon retirement, he served as Professor of Church History at Temple University in Philadelphia until 1951.

A native of Dubuque, Iowa, Dr. Loetscher spent most of his life in Princeton after 1892, when he entered Princeton University as a member of the Class of 1896, the last to be graduated from that institution when it was called the College of New Jersey. An undergraduate student of unusual distinction, he won numerous academic prizes and excelled in public speaking. He was a Junior Orator, a Lynde Debater, a member of the Princeton debate team against Harvard in his Senior year, and a winner of the gold medal formerly offered annually by Baron de Coubertin of Paris to stimulate debate on French politics. Graduated from Princeton magna cum laude, Dr. Loetscher was admitted to Phi Beta Kappa, was named Latin salutatorian of his class in recognition of ranking first in scholarship among his fellow graduates, and went on to earn the degrees of Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy at Princeton.

In 1897 Loetscher entered Princeton Theological Seminary to begin preparation for the ministry. There he won the Newberry Fellowship of the Presbyterian Board of Education, and was awarded the Bachelor of Divinity degree at the end of three years of study instead of the four usually required for the degree. He was also elected president of his class and held that office until his death.

In 1907 Dr. Loetscher went to the pastorate of the Oxford Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, serving there until called back to Princeton in 1910 as Professor of Homiletics and then in 1913 as Archibald Alexander Professor of Church History. During his Oxford pastorate he was secretary of the Seminary's Board of Directors. A charter member of the American Society of Church History when it was reorganized in 1916, he was the Society's secretary and editor of its Papers for sixteen years, and in 1934 was named president. In 1907 he became a member of the Executive Council of the Presbyterian Historical Society, continued to serve on its Board of Directors until 1946, and for thirty-one years edited the Society's quarterly Journal. Dr. Loetscher was Corporator of the Presbyterian Minister's Fund from 1908 until his death, and for nearly two decades a member of the Fund's Board of Directors, for most of that period as the Board's secretary.

In 1939 Professor Loetscher was chosen as the representative of the Presbyterian Church in the USA to the American Theological Committee of the World Conference on Faith and Order, and during the ten years of the committee's existence was its secretary. He was one of three editors in the area of religion for Collier's Encyclopedia, was the author of many articles in historical and theological journals, and a frequent speaker on historical topics. His publications on Augustine, Luther, and Schwenckfeld are considered authoritative. Honorary degrees were conferred upon him by Lafayette College (Doctor of Divinity) and the University of Dubuque (Doctor of Laws).

He is survived by his wife, the former Mary A. McClelland, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Adams McClelland of Brooklyn, a distinguished Presbyterian minister in that city for twenty-five years before becoming Professor of Church History at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Dubuque, Iowa. Other survivors include two sons, the Rev. Dr. Lefferts A. Loetscher, Professor of American Church History at Princeton Seminary, and Dr. Frederick W. Loetscher, Jr., Professor of Biology at Centre College, Danville, Kentucky; four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Emil Lochner, and two brothers, Benjamin Loetscher and Arnold Loetscher, all of Dubuque.

A Memorial Fund has been established in honor of Seminary Librarian Kenneth S. Gapp. Contributions may be sent to the Seminary in care of Mrs. Wanda Christiff. Checks should be made payable to Princeton Theological Seminary. Miss Isabelle Stouffer, Assistant Librarian, has said that contributions will be used for new acquisitions to the Speer Library collection.

A twenty-one day tour of Biblical and archaeological sites in Lebanon, Jordan and Syria will be held during the last three weeks of June, 1967, under the direction of Old Testament Professor Charles T. Fritsch. The tour will be a part of the Seminary's Continuing Education program.

Dr. Fritsch, who has directed several previous archaeological seminars in Jordan and Israel, has announced that the departure date for the study tour will be on or near June 9, 1967. A definite date for departure will be available to interested alumni in the near future, and announced in the next issue of ALUMNI NEWS. The cost for round-trip air transportation, hotel accommodations, meals and surface transportation will be approximately $990, plus a $50 tuition fee. Participation in the study hour will not earn academic credit. Reading lists will be mailed in advance to individuals who register, and lectures and discussions dealing with Biblical history and the dig sites to be visited will be given during the tour.

Inquiries should be addressed to Dr. Jack Cooper, Director of Continuing Education, at 12 Library Place, Princeton.

Tour group members will fly first to Beirut, Lebanon, which will be the base for visits to Biblos and Balbec. The ancient city of Petra will be visited from Amman, Jordan's capital, after which the party will move to Jerusalem. The Biblical sites of Jericho, Qumran, Bethlehem, Hebron, Samaria and Nablos will be covered in three side trips from Jordan. Three additional side trips from the Israeli city of Jerusalem will go to Beersheba, the Negev desert, Haifa and Galilee. The return flight to New York will leave from Tel Aviv.

Pottery identification is the key to archaeological dating, and Professor Fritsch practiced the art during a 1959 expedition to Caesarea

CHAPLAIN TESTS NEW KIT
Chaplain Raymond J. Foley, '56, now a major serving at Fort Gulick, Panama Canal Zone, where he is chaplain for the Eighth Special Forces Battalion, was recently chosen to field test a new portable field kit for chaplains. The tests included carrying the kit up a 35-foot tower, with a descent of the tower by the mountaineer's method of rappelling — using a double rope as a sling under one thigh and across the body over the opposite shoulder. After completion of the field tests the new kit is due to be issued to chaplains in the field. Major Foley was the organizer during last summer of a youth work camp involving two Canal Zone Churches and the Fort Gulick Chapel. The work campers spent twelve days in a church building project in the San Blas Islands for the Kuna Indians.

The Seminary's new heating and maintenance center takes shape in Southwest corner of the campus, at the point nearest the University Graduate College. The project, carrying a price tag of approximately $1,000,000, will be completed during the coming summer.

ALUMNI NEWS is published four times annually by Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, New Jersey. Second class postage paid at Princeton, New Jersey.

IRISH ALUMNI CARRY ON — PRESIDENT OR NONE

The Irish Princetonian Association held its annual meeting in Belfast in November with President James I. McCord the scheduled speaker. European travel has certain built-in risks at that time of the year, and as the Irish Princetonians were seated for their annual dinner, President and Mrs. McCord were seated in Prestwick Airport in Scotland, waiting out a fog.

The largest body of Princeton Seminary alumni outside of the United States is in Ireland, concentrated in the traditionally Protestant counties of Northern Ireland, but extending also into the Republic of Eire. The visit by President and Mrs. McCord would have continued a long tradition of similar visits by officials of the Seminary.

The Irish Princetonian Association was first formed in 1937, when President Emeritus J. Ross Stevenson of the Seminary visited Ireland as the official delegate of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., to the General Assembly of the Irish Presbyterian Church. Since that time President Emeritus John A. Mackay, Deans Homrighausen and Roberts, and David L. Crawford (at the time of his Irish trip he was Assistant to the President), and other alumni have joined with the Irish alumni for their annual dinner.

J. Wallace Bruce, '31, honorary secretary of the Irish Princetonians, prepared the following summary of the group's history. Originally intended to be read during the visit of President and Mrs. McCord, it will be an encouragement to other alumni in similar situations abroad.

The Irish Princetonian Association was formed in the year 1937. The origin of its life and history is due to the fact that in the month of June, in that year, the President-Emeritus of the Seminary, Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, was the official delegate to our General Asembly — representing the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. When my fellow Princetonians and I learned about this, from the Clerk of our General Assembly, we immediately arranged a dinner and meeting, held here in the Presbyterian War Memorial Hostel, on 11th June, 1937, to welcome Dr. Stevenson into our midst.

At this meeting, it was proposed by the Rev. Dr. J. C. Breakey, and seconded by the late Rev. W. J. Harrison, that a "Princetonian Association" be formed, and this was passed unanimously. The Office-bearers elected were: President — Rev. Dr. R. K. Hanna of Dublin, a former Moderator of the Assembly; Vice-President — the late Rev. W. R. Megaw, of Newtownbreda; Secretary — Rev. J. W. Bruce, of First Donegore; and the Rev. George Jackson, Glenarm — Treasurer.

The objects of the Association were: "To maintain contact with the Seminary, and to promote its interests at all times" and the membership was open to all former and present students of the Seminary.

Such, ladies and gentlemen, are the details as to how and why our Irish Princetonian Association was formed, and I am glad to be able to report that, with the exception of the year 1941, when we had no Annual Dinner and meeting, because the Assembly met for only three days that year, due to the recent and prevailing airraids on Belfast — that, excepting the year 1941, the Annual Dinner and meeting of the Association has been held ever since, including the meetings of the Assembly in Londonderry and Dublin, so that next June (D.V.) we shall have completed thirty years in our life and history as the Irish Princetonian Association, during which time, we have supplied at least seven members — elected by the whole Church — as Moderators of the General Assembly.

May I just add here, in passing, that with regard to the late President, J. Ross Stevenson, we have here today, at our dinner, Mr. W. T. Moody, a leading solicitor from Strabane, who is planning to write an article about Dr. Stevenson and his forebears, who lived near Strabane, betore emigrating to the United States of America, and I am quite sure that we shall all be delighted to read Mr. Moody's account of the Stevenson family.

On reading over our Minutes again, for the last 29 years, I find that at the June Dinner and Meeting of the Association, in 1942, we had the pleasure of welcoming and entertaining two Princeton men, who were serving as chaplains in the U. S.

Roy Wilkins

Princeton Seminary's eighth annual Vocations Conference, March 3-5, will bring to the campus 250 college and university students selected from a record 3,000 nominees. The three-day conference will feature addresses by Roy Wilkins, President of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; John Coventry Smith, executive secretary of the United Presbyterian Commission of Ecumenical Mission and Relations; and E. G. Homrighausen, professor of Practical Theology at the Seminary. Other Conference leaders are individuals presently engaged in church careers of various kinds.

Mr. Wilkins will be delivering the second annual James J. Reeb Memorial lecture, established in memory of the Class of 1953 alumnus who died of injuries received while in Selma, Ala., during the 1965 demonstrations in that city. The series was inaugurated a year ago with an address by Eugene Carson Blake. (Continued on Page 8)

Forces, viz., Chaplain E. C. Brink, of the class of '30, and Chaplain A. R. Osborne of the Class '33.

The minutes read — "in racy and informative speeches, they gave us the latest reports about the Seminary; its continued progress under the capable Presidency of Rev. Dr. John Mackay, and they explained to us the various details about the Seminary 'Forward Movement', and certain changes taking place on the Campus."

Other important visitors we were happy to welcome during the years were: in 1948, when we had the official delegate to our Assembly from the Presbyterian Church U.S.A., viz. Rev. Rodgers, B.D. from California, Class of '31; then in 1949 we had with us, Rev. Dr. J. W. Cochran, from Pasadena, California, Class of 1912 — again official delegate to our Assembly.

Following these visits, we had in November 1951, the unforgettable visit by the late Dean of the Seminary Faculty, The Rev. Edward Howell Roberts, along with Mrs. Roberts and their son John. They stayed with us for three days, during which Dean Roberts visited our Assembly's College accompanied by our President, Dr. Fulton, and myself as Secretary. The College meeting was presided over by the late Principal Davey, and the large attendance of professors and students appreciated greatly the splendid address given by Dean Roberts about Princeton and the General Religious situation in America at that time.

After this, we had visits by Rev. David Crawford in 1955, who was the Secretary of Faculty, and in 1959 our Association sent a cable of greetings and good wishes to Dr. Mackay on his resignation from the Presidency of the Seminary, also a gift of linen tablecloth and napkins to Mrs. Mackay, and we received a hearty letter of thanks from Dr. Mackay, addressed to us from their new home in Washington, D. C.

Finally, to our very great delight, the following year — 1960 — we were honoured by the promised visit of Dr. Mackay on 18th October, and that was a very outstanding red-letter day and date in the history of our Association. Dr. Mackay expressed his great pleasure at being with us; told us about the fine new Robert E. Speer Library; reported that there were 40 members on the Faculty, with a student enrolment of almost 500, and he ended by saying that the Old Seminary Spirit of "Piety and Learning" was still very much to the fore, so as to prepare men "to be good and faithful servants of the Living God, and of His Son, Jesus Christ, our Saviour and Lord". Dr. Mackay was warmly thanked by our President, the Rev. Dr.

Austin Fulton, then Moderator of the General Assembly, and he requested Dr. Mackay to convey our greetings and good wishes for the continued success of the Seminary, under its new President, Dr. James I. McCord.

In 1962, we had, in July of that year, the fine visit of Dean Homrighausen, who was in Belfast to attend the World Conference on Christian Education. In his address to the Association, he conveyed greetings from President McCord; told us about the sesquicentennial celebrations of the Seminary, and how in all its departments the Seminary was going from strength to strength. The Dean was thanked for his address by Principal Wilson, of our College, and was requested to convey our greetings to all on his return.

In conclusion, all arrangements had been made to hold a Dinner in the Presbyterian Hostel, Belfast, in honour of President and Mrs. McCord, on the 23rd November, 1966 — which would have been a unique day in our Association's life and history — but alas! — the President and his wife were fog-bound at Prestwick airport, Scotland, and so were unable to visit us this time. But as "Hope springs eternal in the human breast" — especially a Princetonian's — we look forward greatly to having them with us at some future date.

JAMES M. ROBINSON TO DELIVER WARFIELD LECTURES MARCH 27-30

"The New Testament as Hermeneutic" will be the title of the 1967 Annie Kinkead Warfield Lectures, to be delivered in Miller Chapel March 27-30 by James McConkey Robinson, Professor of Religion at the Claremont Graduate School and University Center.

A summa cum laude graduate of Davidson College in 1945, Robinson earned his B.D. degree at Columbia Theological Seminary (magna cum laude). He holds two earned doctorates, a Doctor of Theology from the University of Basel, awarded in 1952 with highest honor, and a Princeton Seminary Th.D. received in 1955.

Professor Robinson went to Claremont in 1958 as an associate professor of the School of Theology, and was named Professor of Theology and New Testament in 1961. In 1964 he was appointed Professor of Religion in the Claremont Graduate School where he was an affiliate member of the faculty from 1959 to 1964. He also holds the same title in the School of Theology at Claremont. His earlier teaching appointments were at Davidson College, the Candler School of Theology at Emory University, and at Columbia Seminary (Continued on page 10)

TWO SPECIAL PROGRAMS SET FOR SPEER-ZWEMER CENTENNIAL

The faculty and students of New Brunswick Theological Seminary will be the guests of Princeton Seminary's faculty and students on April 5 for a special program honoring the centennial of the births of Robert E. Speer and Samuel Zwemer.

Speer, a member of the Class of 1893, spent but one year on campus before accepting the call to become executive secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement during a year when more than 1,000 students decided to become missionaries, Speer became one of the foremost missionary statesmen of the greatest era of modern missionary expansion.

Samuel Zwemer came to Princeton Theological Seminary in 1929 as Professor of the History of Religion and Christian Missions after thirty-nine years as a missionary in Arabia and Egypt. A graduate of New Brunswick Theological Seminary with the Class of 1890, Zwemer was called by Historian Kenneth Scott Latourette the missionary who most deserved "the designation of Apostle to Islam."

COMMENCEMENT SET FOR JUNE 4-6

John Davis McCaughey, Master of Ormond College of the University of Melbourne and Commonwealth Visiting Professor at Oxford during the current academic year, will be the speaker at Princeton Seminary's 155th annual Commencement on June 6.

Peter K. Emmons, a member of the Seminary's Class of 1915 and President of the Board of Trustees since 1948, will be the preacher for the Sunday, June 4, Baccalaureate. The 1967 Commencement marks Emmons's retirement from the Seminary board where he has served since 1925.

The Alumni Day schedule on June 5 will be the second of two major observances marking the Centennial of the births of Robert E. Speer and Samuel M. Zwemer (see following story). The opening address on the morning of Alumni Day will be delivered by Dr. John Coventry Smith, general Secretary of the United Presbyterian Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations. Smith will discuss both the past course of the missionary movement and the current transition to meet future challenges.

A native of Monmouth Junction, Dr. Emmons attended both Princeton University and Princeton Seminary. He served pastorates in Catasaqua and Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, and in Trenton, New Jersey, before going to Scranton, Pennsylvania, in 1927 to become minister of the Westminster Church. He retired in 1958 after more than thirty years in that pulpit.

Dr. Emmons holds honorary degrees from Washington and Jefferson College, Grove City College, and Princeton University. He was named to the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., in 1929, and served on the Board until 1958, the last seven years as its President.

Professor McCaughey, who last year was named an honorary doctor of the University of Edinburgh, is Professor of Biblical Studies at Ormond College in addition to serving as Master. First appointed to the Ormond Faculty in 1954, he had earlier been a study consultant to the Student Christian Movement and an advisor to the SCM Press. From 1948 to 1951 he was SCM Study Secretary and editor of The Student Movement. His M.A. is from Pembroke College, Cambridge University.

Publications by Dr. McCaughey include works in the fields of Biblical studies and Church unity. Among them are: The Christian in the World Struggle, Christian Obedience in the University, and The Church's Unity.

FIRST GIFTS RECEIVED FOR 1967 ALUMNI ROLL CALL

More than $6,000 in gifts to the 1967 Alumni Roll Call came in during the first month of the campaign, the office of the Vice President Robert M. Skinner has reported.

Along with twenty-nine pledges for additional gifts of $704, the first month's effort produced 427 responses and $6,766 in cash and pledged gifts. The response seems to be running ahead of last year. Exact comparisons are difficult because the accounting periods have been changed. As of

January 31, 1966, the 1966 Roll Call had received

$7,092.90 from 509 alumni.

The 1966 Roll Call drew a number of additional gifts after the close of the formal campaign. The final figure for total gifts was $35,867.60 with another $1,133 in pledges. A total of 1,065 donors sent a Roll Call gift, with another thirty-eight ex-students making pledges. Second gifts were received from 103 alumni. The total responses to the 1966 effort reached $1,206.

Dr. Skinner reports that 578 of the 1966 givers had made a Roll Call contribution in 1965. Of the remaining 487 givers:

136	had	last	given	in	1964
49					1963
55					1962
18					1961
22					1960
13					1959
11					1958
15					1957
6					1956
1					1950

Of the total of 1065 donors, 155 were first-time givers, mostly from graduating classes since 1960. The majority of alumni seem to give the same amount each year—657 donors gave the same amount in 1966 as in 1965. Increased gifts came from 252 ex-students, while 156 contributors reduced the amount of their Roll Call gift.

A big question is "What happened to the 308 contributors in 1965 who did not give in 1966?" More important, perhaps, is the question of whether or not they will join in the 1967 campaign now underway. In view of the unexpected gift $10,500 given anonymously by an alumnus, it will take every past and present donor to keep the 1967 Roll Call at the level of last year's success.

The new boilers went into place at an early stage of construction, while wall openings were still large enough to admit them. Construction crews had roof sections installed and a major portion of the walls finished before the worst of the winter weather began.

CONSTRUCTION OF POWER PLANT ON SCHEDULE

In spite of winter snows, construction on Princeton's new $1 million power plant and maintenance complex is virtually on schedule according to William E. Lawder, Business Manager. The project is one of the items included in the $50 Million Fund Program which is now in progress throughout the denomination.

Construction of the new facility was necessitated when the original power facilities were condemned as unsafe for further operation. The Seminary's maintenance department, which has been working in scattered and cramped quarters for many years, will gain larger and more efficient shop facilities and centralized storage space.

Construction was begun on the new complex in September of 1966 when excavation crews moved in to prepare the site for the building. By mid-December, all of the concrete footing was poured and work was immediately begun to erect the steel framework. Since the rapid completion of that work, crews have been securing the pre-fabricated steel sections of the roof and masonry work has been completed. Upon completion of final ground survey work, the difficult task of constructing an entirely new pipeline network to the main campus buildings will begin.

Lawder estimated that the new complex will be operational by July 1967.

Los Angeles area alumni gathered for their annual dinner and meeting on January 23 with President McCord as the speaker. Arrangements were under the direction of John W. Smylie, '52, President of the area alumni association and a member of the faculty at Occidental College. ABOVE: San Francisco area alumni met with President McCord for luncheon earlier the same day at Joe Dimaggio's Restaurant on Fisherman's Wharf. Charles E. Hurst, '51, is chapter president, with Frank Havens, '55, as vice president. Senior alumnus present was William N. Wysham, '16, who is standing at the right of the head table contingent.

SEEK NEW TIES BETWEEN SEMINARY AND OVERSEAS ALUMNI

During the 1965-66 academic year, following the completion of his term as Dean of the Seminary, Dr. E. G. Homrighausen was invited by the Board of Trustees to undertake an extensive series of visits to overseas alumni. The primary goal of the trips to Asia, Latin America, and Africa was to explore possible patterns of continuing education for former students living abroad. Professor Homrighausen has prepared the following article on his experiences during the year.

The overseas alumni of Princeton Seminary are a large and an enviable dimension of its past heritage, present character, and world outreach.

From its beginning, the Seminary has been an ecumenical community, and it has had an ecumenical outreach. Around ten per cent of its student body through the years has been from overseas. And sometimes as many as thirty per cent of its graduating classes have volunteered for services abroad. At present there are over 800 alumni serving the churches in various capacities in other lands, both nationals who came to the Seminary for further study and have returned to their homelands, and Americans who have invested all or most of their lives in establishing and strengthening the churches in other countries.

No doubt, this ecumenical character and thrust of the Seminary was inspired by the missionary spirit which motivated the Tennents to train ministers for the frontier in the new world. Presbyterians were involved in the student missionary movement, including Robert E. Speer, an alumnus of the Seminary and one-time secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions. At least five major "mission fields," which are now indigenous and independent churches, were founded by Seminary alumni. The chairman and secretaries of the Board of Foreign Missions until recently were alumni of the Seminary. Being the oldest seminary in the former Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., it always reflected and generated the missionary spirit of the entire denomination.

This large number of alumni overseas, then, is due to the fact that Princeton Seminary has always had a missionary concern, and its alumni overseas commended their alma mater to promising students in the younger churches. In a day when higher education in the western world is becoming aware of its international dimensions, and responsibilities, it is good to know that in this respect Princeton Seminary has enjoyed a world-wide context for its education for over 150 years.

These overseas alumni are located on all continents. The largest number of overseas alumni is to be found in Ireland, where annually an alumni meeting is held. Alumni have been instrumental in helping to found the largest church in Korea, the Presbyterian. Several meetings of alumni have been held in the last few years in Korea with Seminary professors. The pastor of the largest congregation in Seoul and one of the largest in the world is an alumnus, and he is influential in national and educational affairs.

Large groups of alumni also are to be found in Canada, India, Japan, Formosa, Lebanon, Brazil, Thailand, and South Africa. And, there are one or more alumni overseas in Argentina and Malaysia, in Formosa (Taiwan) and Indonesia, in Iraq and Kenya, in Egypt and Ethiopia, in the Philippines and the Cameroon, in Great Britain and France, in Italy and Switzerland, in Germany and Norway, in Pakistan and Mexico, in Guatemala and New Zealand, in Australia and Hungary, in Peru and Ecuador, in Cuba and British Guiana, in Costa Rica and Venezuela, in Chile and Czechoslovakia, in Portugal and Bolivia, in Jamaica and Madagascar, in the Sudan until recently, and several other lands.

The overseas alumni are engaged in various types of service. They are founders of church, educational, and welfare institutions. They are professors, deans, presidents or principals of seminaries, universities, colleges, and Bible institutes. They are church executives. They are pastors of large churches, small churches, and parishes that include as many as a dozen congregations. They are evangelists. They are Bible translators or revisers of Bible translations. They are executives in Bible societies. They are translators of foreign books into native languages, they are radio experts, some of whom are associated with influential stations. They are builders of audio-visual centers which distribute their products over a whole continent. They are directors of Christian education for their denominations and conductors of leadership education. They are pastors of union churches in large cities, ministering to English-speaking congregations which also attract many nationals, especially students, to their services. They are teaching music and directing young people in choral singing. They are directors of theological communities which pool all Christian resources in order to strengthen Christian foundations and penetrate national cultures with the Gospel. Some are influential in political life.

Every alumnus overseas is engaged in a crucial service, and he is often busy with more than one job. Because he has had opportunity to study abroad, much is expected of him. He may often be found in ecumenical programs, meetings, and study groups. He is a pioneer in ecumenical projects and agencies, such as theological education, ecumenical centers, learned societies, theological educational associations, Christian education programs, and various inter-denominational activities.

Not the least among the alumni overseas are the chaplains serving with the armed forces in bases around the world. The Chaplain is found in Greenland, Germany, Thailand, Vietnam, and other places. Nationals are also engaged in several chapplaincy programs in nations like Indonesia and Korea.

The Princeton Seminary community has become newly aware of its sons and daughters overseas. It wants to develop a closer relationship with them, to find new and better ways to incorporate them into the fellowship of alumni, and to seek to provide services for them.

This may result in more alumni meetings with Seminary personnel who are travelling abroad. It may mean the distribution of reading guides already prepared by the Center for Continuing Education. New features may be added to The Seminary Bulletin and The Alumni News which will be of interest to overseas alumni. Catalogues and course outlines should be made available to alumni who are engaged in teaching. Perhaps professorial exchanges would be possible. It may be that provision could be made for Visiting Fellows to study in the Seminary for brief periods of time. Books and periodicals for libraries, whether institutional or personal, are in great demand. Whatever can be done to strengthen theological or continuing education overseas will contribute to the alumni overseas.

The alumni overseas are loyal members of the Seminary community. They long not only to return to the campus if only for a short time, but they have something to contribute to the life of the Seminary. They keep alive the crucial dimension of ecumenical mission in our theological education and their presence in our community will never let us revert to a provincial Christianity. And we may be assured that these loyal sons and daughters will encourage and commend good students to continue to come to the Seminary to enrich our campus life and to equip themselves for effective service at home.

STUDENTS ATTEND NATIONAL MEETING ON VIETNAM

Twenty-five Princeton Seminary students attended the National Seminarians Conference on Vietnam, January 30-February 1, in Washington, D. C. The conference was held in conjunction with "The Clergy and Laymen's Conference on Vietnam" which attracted 2,000 delegates from Protestant, Roman Catholic, and Jewish communions.

Meeting in joint session with the clergymen, the seminarians heard Dr. Robert McAfee Brown, Presbyterian theologian and professor at Stanford University, present the position paper for the conference. The paper urged government leaders to find a formula for peace without victory. The paper further calls for the cessation of bombing in North Vietnam and suggests that the destruction of lives and property necessary for a military victory may be so great that it will negate its stated aim.

The statement, accepted overwhelmingly by clergy, laymen, and seminarians, was presented to the White House by Dr. Brown. Following a "peace vigil" at the White House, conference delegates met with administration officials and Congressional leaders, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Senators Everett Dirksen and J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Upon return to the Princeton campus, an ad hoc committee of several of the conference delegates outlined a multi-pronged program to encourage local study of the Brown position paper and the problems connected with reaching peace in Vietnam. A three-day fast, discussion groups, special chapel services, and a series of guest speakers are all facets of the committee's program.

ART BOOK COLLECTION TO BE DEDICATED

A selection of art books in the Reigner Christian Education Reading Room will be dedicated during the June 5 Alumni Day program in honor of Miss Mary Schmoeller. A member of the Class of 1957, Miss Schmoeller died in October, 1965, of injuries suffered in an automobile accident. An editorial staff member of the Board of Christian Education, Miss Schmoeller was a member of the Executive Council of the Princeton Seminary Alumni Association.

The volumes, selected in consultation with faculty members and art authorities, carry commemorative plates. The volumes are as follows: Sketches of Kaethe Kollwitz, Christ's Image by Auclair; The Madonna by Guitton; Guernica by Rudolph Arnheim; Ecce Homo by J. Jobo; Christianity in Modern Art by Getlein; Rembrandt by Focillon and Goldscheider; Fra Angelica by Argan; Giotto by Battisti; El Greco by Guinard; From Van Eyck to Bruegel by Max Friedlander; Roualt by Pierre Courthion; History of Art: A Survey of the Major Visual Arts from the Dawn of History to the Present Day by H. W. Janson; Early Christian Art by W. F. Volbach; Chagall's Jerusalem Window; and Michelangelo, published by Phaidon.

Delegates to the Conference will have an opportunity to consider a number of the many types of careers now possible within the Church. Discussion groups, organized topically, will include such areas of vocational interest as: ministry in the inner city, broadcasting, college education, news writing, and the more traditional areas of ministry in the local congregation and Christian education. Also on the schedule are a folk liturgy and George Bernard Shaw's play, Don Juan in Hell, a feature production of the Seminary's Theater Workshop.

The program will give student delegates a survey of the part seminary education plays in preparation for the ministry. In addition to frequent opportunities for informal discussion with Princeton students, faculty members will host delegates at coffee hours in their homes to provide an informal atmosphere for dialogue between students and faculty.

Housing facilities on the Seminary compus will be taxed to the maximum for the Conference. Delegates will be housed with current Princeton students in the campus dormitories, utilizing every available facility. Conference planners estimate accommodations will be available for a maximum of 200 men and 50 women.

While housing capacity on campus has remained constant since the Conference began eight years ago, the number of college and university students nominated has increased to this year's total of more than 3,000. In recent years it has become necessary to limit attendance to those who have reached junior standing and above. Nominations are obtained from alumni, presidents of denominational colleges, campus ministers, presbytery candidate chairmen, and pastors. Princeton faculty and students also have the opportunity to nominate young men and women for the Conference.

SEMINARIAN HEADS CHRISTMAS PROGRAM FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

Ching-fen Hsiao, a 31-year-old doctoral candidate at Princeton Seminary, spent the Christmas holidays directing a special Christmas hospitality program for international students sponsored by Presbyterian churches in Charlotte, N. C., and vicinity.

Seventy students from twenty-six nations, representing five religions, were the guests of Charlotte Presbyterians. Charlotte's First Presbyterian Church became "International Holiday House" for the period of December 20 through January 2, with the guests sleeping and eating at the church.

Sports events, art exhibits, music performances, Christmas and New Year's parties, and numerous programs at churches and civic organizations were a part of the fortnight. International students in the U. S. are often forced to spend long holidays alone in deserted dormitories, or else hitch-hiking around the country to spend a few days at the homes of various friends.

The 1966 program was the second that Hsiao has directed. A year earlier he guided a similar venture at First Presbyterian Church, Huntington, W. Va. Some seven large Presbyterian churches on the East Coast have adopted the concept, and more have expressed interest for next Christmas.

BIBLE LANDS STUDY TOUR SET FOR JUNE 8-29

June 8 will be the departure date for a three-week study tour of the Holy Land under the leadership of Charles T.Fritsch of the Old Testament faculty. The tour is a new program on the schedule of the Center of Continuing Education.

Dr. Jack Cooper, Director of Continuing Education, says that several reservations have already been confirmed, with additional inquiries still to be processed. The cost of taking part in the study tour will be $990 plus a $50 tuition fee. The price includes all land and air transportation from New York to the Middle East and return, as well as hotel charges, three meals per day, and tips. The only additional expense to tour group members will be for personal expenses, souvenirs, film, and similar items.

Leaving New York's Kennedy Airport on the evening of June 8, the Study Tour will go first to Athens for a three-day visit to Classical sites in Greece. On June 12 the tour reaches Beirut. Lebanon, with scheduled visits to the ancient sites of Byblos and Baalbek. Damascus, Petra, and the Dead Sea area. Jericho and Qumran will be the major targets of the group during the time spend around the Dead Sea, along with Bethlehem and Hebron.

Crossing into Israel in June 23 at Jerusalem, Dr. Fritsch will conduct the tour to Beer-sheba, Arad and Masada, Haifa and the Sea of Galilee. covering Caesarea Martima before going on to Tel Aviv for the return trip to New York.

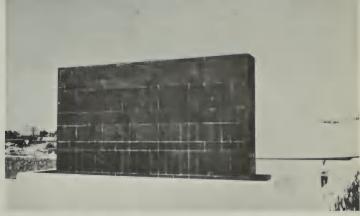

Dr. Fritsch, who will be responsible for the teaching program of the tour, will provide lists of advance reading selections. The material will enable tour group members to survey the fields of Biblical history and archaeology with special emphasis on the sites to be visited before departure.

Alumni and others interested in taking part in this new Continuing Education program should address inquiries to Dr. Jack Cooper, Center of Continuing Education. 12 Library Place, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

SPEER-ZWEMER (continued from page 5)

The April 5 celebration will be the first of two events marking the 100th anniversary of the births of these missionary figures. The June 5 Alumni Day program will concentrate on the development of the mission of the Church since Speer and Zwemer began their careers.

The New Brunswick Seminary visitors will come to the campus April 5 in time for dinner with the Princeton Seminary community. Two lectures are scheduled for the evening, with President Emeritus John A. Mackay speaking on Robert E. Speer and New Brunswick Professor John Beardsley, a Church historian, speaking on Samuel

The lectures will be open to the public, with special invitations extended to alumni and friends of both seminaries. The first lecture will be given at 7:00 p.m., with the following address an hour later.

Robert E. Speer decided to enter missionary service during his student days at Princeton University, where he was an outstanding athlete and valedictorian of his class. Following his graduation he served a year as secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, and entered Princeton Seminary in 1890.

In 1891, at the age of twenty-four, he accepted the urgent invitation of the Presbyterian, U.S.A., Board of Foreign Missions to become the Board's executive. He served in that post until his retirement in 1937 at the age of seventy. Speer died in 1947, two months after his eightieth birthday.

A moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly in 1927, Speer was honored by doctoral degrees from the University of Edinburgh, Rutgers University, the College of Wooster, Otterbein College, and Juniata

A native of Michigan, Samuel M. Zwemer was a graduate of Hope College. He decided to enter mission service during a campus visitation by a representative of the Student Volunteer Movement. In 1890 he sailed for Arabia to establish a pioneer mission station in the homeland of Islam, and in 1891 began his work at Basra. During his twenty-three years in Arabia he was frequently called back to the United States for lecture engagements and for assistance in raising mission funds.

In 1912 Zwemer went to Cairo, where he was to serve until called to the Princeton Seminary faculty in 1929. He taught at Princeton until his retirement in 1936. While in Cairo Zwemer traveled widely in the Moslem world, edited the magazine Moslem World, organized conferences for Christian workers, and guided plans for evangelistic work among Islamic peoples. The author of some fifty books, Zwemer held honorary degrees from Hope College, Rutgers University, and Muskingum College. He died in 1952 shortly before his eighty-fifth birthday.

where he was guest professor from 1955

The six lectures by Dr. Robinson will be delivered in Miller Chapel on the following schedule:

Monday, March 27 — 7:45 p.m. Tuesday, March 28 - 7:45 p.m.

Wednesday, March 29 - 1:45 and 7:45 p.m. Thursday, March 30 - 1:45 and 7:45 p.m. The most recent volume by Professor Robinson is Kervgma und historischer Jesus, which appeared earlier this year. Robinson is also editing The Beginnings of Dialectic Theology, which will begin to appear this year. He is the co-editor with John B. Cobb, Jr., of New Frontiers in Theology, the third volume of which will be published this Spring in both English and German. Other editorial responsibilities include members on the editorial board of Theologische Forschung of Germany; and the editorial board of Journal for Theology and the Church.

A frequent guest lecturer, Robinson has spoken in this country at Duke, Drew, Harvard, Vanderbilt, Columbia, Notre Dame, and Southern Methodist Universities as well as other divinity schools. In 1965 he undertook a lecture tour of Japan, Korea, and Burma, and in 1965-66 was Annual Professor at the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem. During a 1959-60 sabbatical he lectured at the Universities of Erlangen, Hamburg, Kiel, Zurich, and Mainz, and at the Kirchliche Hochschulen in Berlin, Bethel, and Wuppertal.

Dr. Robinson is a member of the Society of Biblical Literature, and has served as President of the Society's Western Section, and holds membership in the American Academy of Religion, Studiorum Novi Testamenti Societas, the New Testament Colloquium, The American Society for the Study of Religion, and the International Asociation for the History of Religion.

MODERATOR GANSE LITTLE, '29, and Mrs. Little were greeted by Professor Emeritus Henry S. Gehman during the Moderator's visit to the campus last fall.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

April 28, 1967

Dear Fellow-Ministers:

Earlier this week the Annual Meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Seminary was held in Princeton, and it marked a notable changing of the guard. The Reverend Dr. Peter K. Emmons was elected to emeritus status after forty years of devoted service to the Seminary as a Trustee, including nineteen years as the Board's President.

Dr. Emmons personifies the "complete Princetonian." He commuted from his home in Monmouth Junction to attend Princeton High School, took his B.A. in Princeton University, and was graduated from Princeton Seminary in the famous Class of 1915. His pastorates in Stroudsburg, Trenton, and Scranton were distinguished by compelling and eloquent preaching and by remarkable physical and spiritual growth in each congregation. His service to the Church-at-large included the presidency of the Board of Foreign Missions, where he was one of the architects of the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations, and leadership in theological education through membership on the Council on Theological Education and through trusteeship in the Seminary.

To "Pete" Emmons Princeton Seminary owes an incalculable debt. He has always brought vision and courage to the affairs of the Seminary and a deep personal commitment to Jesus Christ as Lord of the Seminary, the Church, and all of life. He is known universally as "a man with a message," and his central concern has been to see that this message is at the heart of the program of his alma mater.

It has been a source of constant assurance and support for me to have had Dr. Emmons as colleague, counsellor, and chief. No institution has ever been more richly blessed in the leadership of its governing body than Princeton.

The quality of this leadership will be continued by the newly-elected President of the Board, Dr. John M. Templeton, a native of Tennessee and a graduate of Yale, where he was awarded a Rhodes Scholarship for study abroad in Oxford and London. Dr. Templeton is a layman, an investment counsellor, a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Englewood, New Jersey, and in recent years has served as Vice President of the Board and as a member and sometime Chairman of the Finance and Investment Committee. His service also includes membership on the Board of Trustees of Wilson College and the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations. He brings to his new responsibilities unique gifts of mind and spirit and a rich experience in business and in service to the Church.

Princeton Seminary is composed of a tightly-knit though far-flung community that extends all over the globe. In behalf of all members of this community let me express the profoundest appreciation to Dr. Emmons, who will continue to be active in the Seminary's affairs as President-emeritus, and extend a hearty welcome to John Templeton as he assumes his strategic position in the planning, policy-making, and development of the Seminary.

Faithfully yours,

JAMES I. McCORD
President

COMMENCEMENT SCHEDULED for June 4-6

DR. EMMONS TO RETIRE AS TRUSTEE PRESIDENT

The Reverend Dr. Peter K. Emmons, who retires from the presidency of the Board of Trustees this Spring after 19 years in that office, will be the Baccalaureate preacher June 4, for the Seminary's 155th annual Commencement. Dr. Emmons first became a Trustee in 1925.

The Commencement speaker for 1967 is John Davis McCaughey, Master of Ormond College of the University of Melbourne, Australia, and this year Commonwealth Visiting Professor at Oxford University.

The June 5, Alumni Day program will take as its theme "The Future of the Christian Mission." It will be the second of two campus observances this year marking the centennial of the births of Robert E. Speer and Samuel M. Zwemer.

Secretary of the Seminary Arthur M. Byers, Jr., '50, is in charge of a reunion program emphasizing classes that were graduated from the Seminary in years ending in two or seven. The Fiftieth Reunion Class this year is the Class of 1917, with the Class of 1942 celebrating its Twenty-fifth Reunion. The Classes of 1907, 1912, 1922, 1927, 1932, 1937, 1947, 1952, 1957, and 1962 are also planning reunion meetings.

The Class of 1967, newest members of the alumni body, will send an estimated 95 B.D. and M.R.E. graduates to the chapel at Princeton University on June 6, to receive diplomas. Additional Master of Theology and Doctor of Theology candidates will raise the number of degrees awarded to approximately 165.

Commencement Speaker McCaughey has been Professor of Biblical Studies at Ormond College since 1954. His post as Master of the College is the equivalent to that of the dean of a theological faculty at an American university, or the presidency of a seminary.

The holder of an M.A. degree from Cambridge University, the Reverend Mr. McCaughey is the author of Christian Obedience in the University, and the editor of Student Prayer. He is also the co-author of two other volumes, The Christian in the World Struggle, and The Church's Unity.

Before going to Ormond College McCaughey was active in Student Christian Movement work in Britain. From 1948 to 1951 he was Study Secretary of the SCM and editor of the SCM periodical, The Student Movement. He had earlier served as Associate Study Secretary and as Irish Secretary of the SCM. In 1949 McCaughey was a member of an SCM commission studying the place of the Church in a college or university community.

Peter K. Emmons came to Princeton Seminary in 1912 following his graduation from Princeton University. A native of Monmouth Junction, Dr. Emmons served pastorates in Catasaugua and Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, and in Trenton, New Jersey, between his graduation from the Seminary in 1915 and his call in 1927 to the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Scranton, Pennsylvania. He served more than thirty years at Westminster, retiring, in 1958.

A member of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. from 1929 to 1958, Dr. Emmons was the Board's president for the last seven years of his service. He holds honorary degrees from Washington and Jefferson College, Grove City College, and Princeton University.

CHRISTIAN MISSION Is Autumn Day Theme

John Coventry Smith

M. Richard Shaull

J. Christy Wilson

Four major addresses and a panel discussion have been scheduled for the June 5 Alumni Day program on "The Future of the Christian Mission." The 1967 Alumni Day is the second of two events marking the 100th Anniversary of the births of Robert E. Speer of the Class of 1893 and Samuel M. Zwemer, from 1929 to 1936 the Seminary's professor of the history of religion and Christian missions.

Following a service of worship in Miller Chapel, under the leadership of the Rev. Frank N. Watson, '57, Alumni Association president, the opening address will be delivered at a 10:15 a.m. seminar by Dr. John Coventry Smith, General Secretary of the United Presbyterian Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations. His topic will be "The Christian World Mission — Today and Tomorrow."

A second seminar address will be given at 2:30 p.m., by Professor M. Richard Shaull, former missionary in Colombia and Brazil who currently occupies the Seminary's Chair of Ecumenics. He will speak on "Toward a Reformation of Objectives in Mission."

At 3:30 p.m., Smith and Shaull will be joined by two additional panelists for a discussion on the two papers. The other panel members will be: the Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, '48, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor, Michigan; and the Rev. Ernest L. Fogg, secretary for Interchurch Action for COEMAR. Dr. J. Christy Wilson, Dean Emeritus of Field Service, will give a luncheon address on "The Significance of Samuel M. Zwemer." Dr. Wilson served as a missionary in Persia (now Iran) for twenty-two years prior to coming to Princeton Seminary in 1941 to become Director of Field Work and associate professor of ecumenics. His address will draw heavily upon his personal knowledge of the work of Zwemer during the thirty-nine years that Zwemer was a missionary in Arabia and Egypt.

The culminating event of the Alumni Day program will be the address by President James I. McCord on "Whither American Protestantism?" at the annual Alumni Banquet. The banquet is scheduled for 6:00 p.m., with President McCord's address to follow.

MARTIN MARTY

Scheduled for Fall Alumni Meeting

The Reverend Dr. Martin E. Marty, member of the faculty at the Divinity School of the University of Chicago and widely known for his writings as a member of the staff of The Christian Century, will be the speaker for the 1967 Autumn Alumni Conference, scheduled for September 14-15.

Secretary of the Seminary Arthur M. Byers, Jr., '50, has announced that program and reservation information will be mailed early in the summer.

FRIAR BREAKFAST SET

The annual Friar Club breakfast will be held Commencement Day, June 6 (Tuesday) at the Princeton Inn. The hour is 8:00 a.m. Persons desiring to attend should send a reservation request to Joseph MacCarroll, Union Presbyterian Church, Shell Road and Walker Avenue, Carney's Point, New Jersey 08069. MacCarroll, a member of the Class of 1935, is coordinator for the breakfast.

SPEER-ZWEMER CONVOCATION UNITES PTS, New Brunswick Seminaries

Members of the faculties and student bodies of New Brunswick and Princeton Theological Seminaries met on the Princeton campus April 5 to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the births of Robert E. Speer, Class of 1893, and Samuel M. Zwemer, Professor of Missions from 1929 to 1939.

The Centennial Convocation was preceded by a joint dinner in the Campus Center. James I. McCord, President of Princeton Seminary, extended greetings to the faculty of New Brunswick and the family and friends of Doctors Speer and Zwemer. James Brown, President of the Princeton student body, welcomed students from New Brunswick.

Following the banquet, students and faculty attended the Convocation in Miller Chapel in honor of Speer and Zwemer. President Emeritus John A. Mackay delivered the first of two Centennial addresses outlining the career and contributions of Robert E. Speer. Speer headed the Presbyterian mission endeavor for a period of forty-six years. President Mackay termed Speer "the great missionary statesman of his generation."

Professor John Beardslee of New Brunswick Seminary spoke on the contribution of Samuel Zwemer, a New Brunswick Seminary graduate in the Class of 1890. From graduation until 1929, Dr. Zwemer was a pioneer missionary in Arabia and Egypt. In addition, Beardslee said, Zwemer organized and directed plans for missionary work among the Islamic peoples.

From 1929 to 1936 Dr. Zwemer was professor of missions at Princeton Theological Seminary.

The April 5 Centennial Convocation in honor of the 100th anniversary of the births of Robert E. Speer and Samuel M. Zwemer brought the faculty and students of New Brunswick Theological Seminary to the campus for a joint banquet and lecture event. Left to right: Princeton President James I. McCord; President Emeritus John A. Mackay, who lectured on the contributions of Robert E. Speer; New Brunswick President Wallace N. Jamison; and New Brunswick Professor John Beardslee, who spoke on the career of Samuel M. Zwemer.

The 1967 Princeton Conference on Church Vocations, held March 3-5, drew 319 college and university students to the campus for a series of lectures, discussion sessions, and other events dealing with the nature of Christian service. Here are some of the scenes from the Conference:

NAACP President Roy Wilkins at the lectern during the discussion period following his delivery of the James J. Reeb Memorial Lecture, opening event of the Conference.

David B. Watermulder, '45, leads a discussion group interested in the parish ministry.

J. Randall Nichols, '67, who played the role of the Devil for the production of Shaw's play "Don Juan in Hell," turns his attention to Donald B. Chatfield, '59, homiletics instructor who played the role of Don Juan. At left is Mrs. David C. Petersen; John Patton, B.D. Junior, is at right.

The discussion group on urban ministry was led by doctoral candidate Geddes W. Hanson, left, and David Romig, minister of New York's Sea and Land Presbyterian Church.

RESULTS OF CHRIST'S TEACHING KEY TO HERMENEUTICS

The 1966-67 lecture series at Princeton Seminary was brought to a close by Dr. James Robinson, who delivered the annual Warfield Lectures on March 27-31. Dr. Robinson, professor of religion at Claremont Graduate School and University Center, lectured on "The New Testament as Hermeneutic."

Robinson outlined the need for contemporary believers to determine how the authoritative documents of the past can fit the new situation of modern life. If today's Christians are unable to make this kind of determination, Robinson argued, the traditionally authoritative documents of the faith lose their authority and become hollow. The old documents must be reinterpreted in new categories to give them meaning in the present, according to Robinson.

Dr. Robinson focused attention on the dual topics of "Pauline Theology" and "Jesus as Hermeneutic." The contemporary Christian is particularly obligated to reinterpret Pauline theology in new and more meaningful categories. Paul's belief in the rapidly approaching eschaton, and his subjective involvement in a series of early Church crises, has necessarily limited the relevance of his original categories for the 20th Century.

Turning to the subject of "Jesus as Hermeneutic," Robinson discussed his theory that the focus for a new hermeneutic must be on what happened when Jesus spoke to his listeners, rather than what he specifically said. Robinson pointed out that Jesus talked with people about themselves and not about himself as the Christ.

In short, said Dr. Robinson, Jesus introduced listeners to a new language and a new "world" in which they could "rebuild their lives." Jesus' words "turned the old values upside down, upending shame and despair."

Turning to the parables of Jesus as his illustrative model, Robinson outlined the application of his theory. The parables identified God in "the lives of the hearer." Until Jesus came, God had in fact been "misplaced" in the lives of the hearers. Jesus, then, through the parables, redefined the location of God in a newly oriented life of true faith. Jesus, the Son of God, "made himself at home with those who were not at home with God."

Robinson underscored his illustrations by noting that as Jesus created a context into which the outcast could fit, he did not demand repentance of them first. Initially, he was concerned with giving them "a breath of fresh air." This, Robinson affirmed, must be the thrust of the Church of Jesus today. The church must initially seek to provide the new context in which the outcast can build a new life and understand that repentance is not the necessary pre-requisite to that initial ministry.

A summa cum laude graduate of Davidson College in 1945, Robinson earned his B.D. degree at Columbia Theological Seminary (magna cum laude). He holds two earned doctorates, a Doctor of Theology from the University of Basel, awarded in 1952 with highest honor, and a Princeton Seminary Th.D. received in 1955.

Professor Robinson went to Claremont in 1958 as an associate professor of the School of Theology, and was named professor of theology and New Testament in 1961. In 1964 he was appointed professor of religion in the Claremont Graduate School where he was an affiliate member of the faculty from 1959 to 1964. He also holds the same title in the School of Theology at Claremont.

The 1967 Princeton Institute of Theology, twenty-sixth in the annual two-week summer study programs, will open July 3, with a 7:30 p.m., address by President James I. McCord on "The New Creation in Christ," the theme of the Institute.

George A. Buttrick of Garrett Theological Seminary, long minister of New York's Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, and Joseph Haroutunian of the University of Chicago will be the Convocation speakers for the session. Bible Hour speakers will be Stuart D. Currie of Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary and Peter R. Ackroyd, Old Testament professor at the University of London's Kings College.

An expanded schedule of workshops and seminars will be a feature of this year's Institute. During the first week the following choices will be available:

"Varieties of Ministry in a Secular Age" — Dean Arthur M. Adams

Homiletics Workshop — Professor Donald Macleod.

Bible Workshop: The Book of Revelation — Professor Bruce

M. Metzger

Speech Workshop: Professor W. J. Beeners, W. Brower.

The second week will bring the following options:

Administrative Workshop - Dean Adams.

"Man, God and the Bible" — Professor George S. Hendry.

Stewardship Workshop — Winburn T. Thomas.

Speech Workshop: Professor W. J. Beeners, W. Brower.

Leadership for the workshops and seminars is drawn from the Seminary faculty with the exception of the Stewardship Workshop, which will be conducted by Winburn T. Thomas of the Department of Interpretation and Stewardship of the United Presbyterian General Council.

The morning class hour will also offer a choice of session. During the first week of the Institute an elective in "Toward a Theological Practice in Urban Situations" will be offered by Richard H. Luecke of the Urban Training Center for Christian Mission, and an elective in "Varieties of Christian Eperience" will be given by Professor Lefferts A. Loetscher of Princeton Seminary.

The evening program for both weeks will be composed of a series of addresses. The first week will feature a topical lecture series, with a sermon series scheduled for the following week. The speakers are:

July 3 - President James 1. McCord: "The New Creation in Christ."

July 4 — Henry Beck, pastor of the Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church of Lyndhurst, New Jersey: "New Developments in the Roman Catholic Church."

July 5 — William G. Pollard, Executive Director of Oak Ridge Associated Universities: "Science, Technology and Man's Dominion."

July 6 — Richard H. Luecke, Director of Studies, Urban Training Center for Christian Mission: "Words and Signs in a Changing Society."

July 7 — Duncan Shaw, St. Christopher's Church, Edinburgh, Scotland: "The Church in Eastern Europe Today."

 July 9 — John Bright, Union Seminary in Virginia: "New Life in Christ."
 July 10 — David H. C. Read, Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York City: "The Dignity of Faith."

July 11 — Ernest T. Campbell, First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor, Michigan.

July 12 — George M. Docherty, New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, Washington, D.C.: "For Such a Time as This."

A detailed brochure on the program can be secured by writing: Princeton Institute of Theology, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. Director of Continuing Education Jack Cooper, '43, will serve as director of the Institute. Room and board for the session will be $62.50 per person, with a registration fee of $7.50 per person or $10.00 per married couple. Commuter may take part in the Institute by paying the registration fee plus a $15.00 commuter fee. A per diem charge of $9.00 has been set for persons unable to register for the full schedule.

Theodore Goodwin Belote

February 27, 1912 - February 12, 1967

Theodore Goodwin Belote, Director of Radio and Television at the Seminary and a pioneer in the television field, died at his Princeton home on February 12. He had served Princeton Seminary since 1956.

From 1929 to 1932 Mr. Belote was project assistant and station manager of experimental station W3XX in Washington, D.C. He was then for four years a broadcasting engineer with N.B.C. in Washington, and from 1936 to 1948 studio supervisor of Washington radio station WOL.

After twenty years of service to the technical aspects of broadcasting, Mr. Belote in 1948 undertook additional educational preparation in order to devote his services to the Christian Church. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa during his Junior year at Haverford College, and by special faculty action was awarded final honors in English. It was the first time Haverford had conferred such honors on a student who was not an official candidate for the citation. Following B.D. work at the Reformed Episcopal Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, Mr. Belote came to Princeton for Th.M. studies, receiving his degree in 1954.

Mr. Belote was named Director of Radio and Television at Princeton Seminary in 1962, after having served as an instructor and later as an assistant professor. He was a member of the Broadcasting Training Committee of the Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council, and was on the Radio-Television Committee of the Synod of New Jersey. During the summer of 1956 he managed station KSEW in Sitka, Alaska A ruling elder, he was at various periods active on many committees within the church.

The Wineskin, weekly student publication, printed this tribute at the time of his death:

Our friend Ted has left us, and what can we say? At moments like this, "what most needs be said sticks in the throat." Besides, when you lose someone who has always helped, respected, and loved you, there is no reclaiming him with words. Even so, we try to express our own love and loss, because he meant so much to us that silence is somehow even more difficult than speech.

Some people give of themselves. Ted gave himself. He was a brilliant specialist in a sophisticated science, and he gave his brilliance to the Church. He was a cordial man, and he gave his cheerful heart to his friends. He was a kind man, and he gave his sympathetic help to everyone whose need he could serve. All aspects of our relationship with him were rewarding and salutary. His professional skills gave Princeton Seminary and the churches with which he was associated unique advantages in the technical areas of communication. His personal humanity gave happiness, comfort, and example to all who knew him.

Ted's going has left an empty place which will remain so because no one else can ever fill it. But let us give thanks to God for the life of this sterling man, and let us take inspiration from our memory of him. He was surely one of those worthy of the name of Man, and worth calling "brothers of the Son of Man."

Rest in Peace.

The Reverend Dr. Robert M. Skinner, vice president of Princeton Theological Seminary since 1963, died March 22 at Westfield, New Jersey. A native of Gouverneur, New York, who had served Presbyterian pastorates in New Jersey, the District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, and Texas, Dr. Skinner was visiting friends in Westfield when stricken.

The following tribute is reprinted from The Wineskin, a student publication that printed these words in the week following Dr. Skinner's death:

Robert Markwick-Skinner was a churchman. Because of his deep concern for the Church, its mission, and its ministry, he was in the midst of his duties as Vice President of Princeton Theological Seminary when he died on March 22.

Bob Skinner returned to the Seminary campus in 1963 after nearly thirty years in the pastorate. He resigned a vital ministry in a major church of the United Presbyterian communion because of his insight into the needs of theological education and the training of the clergy, and because he loved this school. Dr. Skinner came to Princeton in order to continue his ministry, not to leave it.

He was particularly concerned for the needs of Seminary students. Through his efforts the Scholarship Fund was substantially increased in recent years. Bob was hampered by health problems during the past months, but immediately upon his return to the campus in early March he turned his attention once again to securing additional funds to help students.

Dr. Skinner returned to his duties at full tempo, because he had always worked that way. After graduating from college he entered the business world, and began a promising career in industry at a time when the financial crisis of 1929 had drastically limited opportunity in such a field.

In 1931 he returned to school, and was graduated from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1934. He served pastorates in Washington, D.C., Pottsville, Pennsylvania, Westfield, New Jersey, and Amarillo, Texas, before coming home to Princeton. Dr. Skinner's sense of churchmanship led him to be a hard-working presbyter, heading major presbytery and synod committees throughout his ministry. He was chairman of The United Presbyterian Church's National Commission on Evangelism. He was a member of the Board of National Missions, and of the Commission on Capital Needs that planned the $50 Million Fund Campaign.

Bob Skinner himself never made much of these things, nor of the fact that his ministry included the pastorates of two of the greatest churches of the denomination. These are the marks of the Church's recognition of a churchman of superior stature, the accolades we heard at his funeral service March 25 in Miller Chapel. When he was asked to describe his work, his own response was "Minister of the Gospel."

The Woodrow Wilson award, Princeton University's highest alumni honor, went this year to Eugene Carson Blake, '32, a member of the Seminary's Board of Trustees who in January took up his duties as General Secretary of the World Council of Churches. Princeton University President Robert F. Goheen, left, presents the citation and $1,000 prize to Dr. Blake at the February 25 ceremony. The award goes each year to a University alumnus exemplifying "Princeton in the Nation's Service," a phrase coined by President Woodrow Wilson. A member of the Class of 1928 at Princeton University, Blake became the eleventh recipient of the award before some 1,200 persons attending the Midwinter Meeting of the Princeton National Alumni Association. The citation praised Blake for having ". . . established himself among churchmen everywhere as a personal symbol of ecumenical Christianity — concerned not only with the reconciliation of God and man, or of the Christian churches, but of all human divisions whether based on politics, ideologies, class distinctions, pride of race, or nationalistic prejudice.'

A new eighteen-classroom building at Moon Wha Presbyterian High School, Kyungju, Korea, was dedicated March 7 in honor of the Reverend and Mrs. Raymond Provost. A member of the Class of 1953, Provost founded the high school in 1960 with 250 students. The new Raymond Provost Hall serves a student body of 1,200. With Provost in the photograph above is Young Nae Chey, currently serving as principal of the school. An honorary citizen of Kyungju, and only the second American to receive such recognition from the city that was Korea's capital from 57 B.C. to 918 A.D., Provost is now minister of the Church of the Straits, Mackinaw City, Michigan. He served with the mission in Korea from 1948 to 1965.

Philadelphia alumni named J. Scottie Griffin, '60, second from right, minister of Hanover Street Presbyterian Church, New Castle, Delaware, president of the chapter at an April 21 meeting held in Overbrook Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia. President McCord, who addressed the meeting on "The Two Faces of Africa," is shown congratulating the new officers. Left to right: Secretary-Treasurer Robert M. Taylor, Jr., '56, minister of Central Church, Downington, Pennsylvania; Frederick Mathias, '57, minister of Westminster Church, Wilmington, Delaware; Griffin and President McCord. Not present was the new vice president of the Philadelphia chapter, John A. Lampe, '36, minister of Carmel Presbyterian Church at Glenside, Pennsylvania. Alumni and guests at the luncheon numbered sixty-two.

Bryan Ernst and Paul Verghese, both members of the Class of 1954, were able to hold a two-man reunion in Ceylon in March when Verghese, currently Associate General Secretary of the World Council of Churches, visited Ceylon for a series of conferences on Christian dialogue with other faiths. Ernst, at right above, is Deputy Moderator of the Presbytery of Lanka and Presbyterian chaplain at the University of Ceylon. He is also Interim President of the Consistory of the Dutch Reformed Churches of Galle and Matara, and is active in interfaith programs with Roman Catholics in Ceylon and in the current movement toward a union church.

Chaplain Donald K. Francis, '54, a captain in the Air Force, was recently awarded the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal for meritorious service in deepening the relationship between Air Force men and the chapel program at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

Alumnus Named Dean at Crozer Seminary

R. Melvin Henderson, who was awarded a Princeton Seminary Doctor of Theology degree in 1961, was installed April 4 as academic dean of Crozer Theological Seminary in Chester, Pennsylvania. The service of installation was a part of the April 3-5 celebration of Crozer's centennial.

Dr. Henderson, an alumnus of Howard College and Southeastern Baptist Seminary, began his duties as dean on July 1, 1966. He went to Crozer in 1961 as assistant professor of New Testament, becoming an associate professor in 1963.

FACULTY NOTES

PRESIDENT JAMES I. McCORD spoke at St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Princeton, on Seminary Sunday in January. Later the same month he served as the North American Secretary of the area Council of the Alliance held in Memphis, Tennessee. While at that meeting, he delivered an address entitled "The Re-Structuring of Protestantism." Following the Memphis engagement, McCord participated in the ecumenical meeting at St. Patrick's Seminary, Menlo Park, California, and delivered the luncheon address "Where Are We in Church Union?" President McCord also delivered one of the two featured addresses at a program in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium sponsored by both Roman Catholics and Protestants. While in California, he also attended three Princeton Alumni meetings in San Francisco, Pasadena, and El Cajou. Upon return to the East Coast, McCord delivered a series of three lectures at the Annual Retreat of the Synod of South Carolina. Following a trip through Florida, which included addresses at the First Presbyterian Church, Fort Lauderdale, and the Church of the Palms, Sarasota, President McCord departed for South Africa under the auspices of the United States-South Africa Leadership Exchange Program. There, he visited in Niger and Senegal, and lectured in Pretoria, Johannesburg, Umtata, Grahamstown, Cape Town, and Stellenbosch. Upon return to the United States, McCord delivered a luncheon address on South Africa during a program sponsored by the National Council of Churches and spoke on the same subject to the Commission on Africa of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

- DR. G. A. BARROIS participated in the "Colloquy on Theological Education" sponsored by the Rockefeller Fund for Theological Education. April 6-8, he took part in the meeting of the Mediaeval Academy of America held at the University of Toronto and the Pontifical Institute of Mediaeval Studies.
- DR. BERTIL E. GAERTNER once again participated in a theological consultation between the U.S.A. National Committee of the Lutheran World Federation and the Catholic Bishops Commission for Ecumenical Affairs held in New York City. April 14-15, he participated in a study group of the Lutheran World Federation which focused on the subject "Present Social Change and the Lordship of Christ." Dr. Gaertner is also conducting a New Testament seminar during the spring semester at the Graduate School of Drew University.
- DR. SEWARD HILTNER served for ten days as the theological consultant to the Fort Logan Mental Health Center in Denver, Colorado, and has written an account of the program there for Pastoral Psychology. During March Dr. Hiltner served as a consultant in the training program in marriage counseling at the University of Pennsylvania. During the same period, he also conducted a workshop for ministers as a part of the continuing education program at New Brunswick Theological Seminary. Dr. Hiltner directed a similar workshop for Roman Catholic priests at the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Indiana.
- DR. E. G. HOMRIGHAUSEN delivered a series of lectures for the Council of Churches of Tamaqua, Pennsylvania, and the Upper Room International Fellowship in Nashville, Tennessee. In addition, he addressed the Annual Dinner Meeting of the Trenton Council of Churches and the New Jersey Toastmasters Club in Newark. He also delivered the major address at the evening Convocation at Lebanon Education Consultation in Warwick, New Jersey, and preached at Maryville and Knoxville Colleges in Tennessee.

- DR. NORMAN VICTOR HOPE delivered addresses in a number of churches on a variety of topics, which included "The Life and Teaching of Jesus" at the Second Reformed Church of Irvington, New Jersey; "The Glorious Company of the Apostles" at the Old First Church of Newark, New Jersey; and "Christian Names" at the Second Presbyterian Church of Baltimore, Maryland. He was also a featured speaker on the Lenten program of the Newcastle County Council of Churches, Wilmington, Delaware.
- DR. S T KIMBROUGH, JR., of the Old Testament faculty was the winner this year of the Rita Hoernle Award in the annual vocal competition sponsored by the Liederkranz Foundation of New York City. He was presented in concert with other winners at Carnegie Hall on April 8. During Holy Week Kimbrough conducted a "Spiritual Life Mission" at the Bridgeboro, New Jersey, Methodist Church, preaching each evening for the seven-day period. On Easter Sunday he was the preacher for the forty-fourth annual Easter Sunrise Service held on Garden Pier in Atlantic City by the Atlantic City Council of Churches of Christ and the Atlantic City Chamber of Commerce.

The members of the Corporation of Presbyterian-University of Pennsylvania Medical Center heard PROFESSOR JAMES LAPSLEY at their annual meeting on January 17. Lapsley, who also addressed a January 11 meeting of the New Jersey Chaplains Association at the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute, conducted a January seminar on theology and counseling held for Navy chaplains at the Philadelphia Marriage Council.

- DR. COVAL B. MACDONALD participated in a seminar on "Human Need and Helping Response" for clergy and physicians at Princeton Hospital and was an official delegate of Princeton Seminary to the Eighth Annual Meeting of the Academy of Religion and Mental Health held in Boston, Massachusetts.
- DR. DONALD MACLEOD completed the Lenten period with sermons in various churches in New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore. In addition, he is continuing his service as interim preacher at the Broadway Presbyterian Church of New York City. During the early part of March, Dr. Macleod served as Convener of the Reading Group for the General Assembly's Standardized Presbytery Examinations. One of his sermons appears in the April number of Best Sermons.
- A Protestant-Roman Catholic discussion held recently at Darien, Connecticut, heard Professor BRUCE M. METZGER discuss current trends in Biblical studies and hermeneutics. Dr. Metzger was a delegate of the Society of Biblical Literature to the January meeting of the American Council of Learned Societies, meeting in Baltimore at Johns Hopkins University. He is the contributor of several articles on the apocryphya and pseudepigrapha appearing in the third volume of the Biblisch-Historisches Handwoerterbuch published recently in Germany.
- DR. DANIEL L. MIGLIORE led a series of five discussions on the Confession of 1967 at the First Presbyterian Church, Matawan, New Jersey.
- DR. D. CAMPBELL WYCKOFF addressed the Southern Baptist Directors of Christian Education of Fort Worth, Texas, on the subject, "The Holy Spirit and Christian Education." During the same period, he chaired the annual meeting of the Professors and Research Section of the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of Churches held in Dallas, Texas. He also delivered the initial paper of the meeting, "Toward a Definition of Religious Education as a Discipline."

SCHMOELLER MEMORIAL TO BE DEDICATED

The dedication of a collection of art books as a memorial to Mary Schmoeller, Class of 1957 member who died in October, 1965, has been scheduled for Alumni Day, June 5, at 2:30 p.m. The service of Dedication will be held in the Reigner Christian Education Reading Room with President James I. McCord presiding.

Alumni Association
President Frank N.
Watson, a member of Miss Schmoeller's graduating class, will make the presentation of the memorial gift to the Seminary, with responses from Professors D.
Campbell Wyckoff and

PRINCETON THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY SUMMER, 1967

The President's Page

June 30, 1967

Dear Fellow-Ministers:

In almost every discussion of theological education today consideration of the rising importance of university departments of religion sooner or later arises. Some view this new development with alarm, finding in it a threat to the seminaries and their place in the life of the Church. It is my conviction that the re-establishment of the study of religion as an academic discipline in the colleges and universities across the nation holds great promise for the seminaries and the churches alike.

The rapidly-growing faculties of religion in state and private colleges and universities, with many members drawn from the ranks of seminary-trained scholars, may well produce a new and eagerly-sought burst of energy in the study of theology. The cross-fertilization of ideas through contact with other disciplines, through informal relations as well as inter-disciplinary courses, will inevitably create a better climate for theological inquiry as well as a broader market for theological ideas.

The influence of these new and strengthened departments on the student will be significant. In recent years an increasing number of students entering seminary came from the campuses of state universities and colleges, where a majority of today's students are enrolled. It is entirely possible that rising enrollment in the seminaries may be the result of this influence. Moreover, it can only increase the strength of the Church to receive into its pews each year thousands of intelligent college graduates who have studied the Christian faith, New Testament ethics, and the history of religions in a mature and critical context.

We are convinced that this development in higher education presents a challenge to the seminaries rather than a threat. We shall be forced to take even more seriously our relations with academic disciplines that center on the university campus and to maintain a dialogue with them at a deeper level. We shall also be challenged to deal with students who have studied, and perhaps majored, in distinguished departments of religion. This will necessitate a more flexible curriculum. Some entering students will be ready for courses normally reserved for senior concentration while others, coming from different backgrounds, will still have to engage in a very basic level of theological study before moving on to more complex fields. Only a highly individualized program of academic counseling and a wide distribution of courses at different levels will meet the needs posed by any incoming junior class.

The financial aspects of this will require careful study. Already theological education is second only to medical education in cost, and individualized programs of study will further increase expenses. The seminaries must also remain competitive in salaries and fringe benefits with state-financed salary scales. But this is a responsibility well worth assuming, for the seminaries will unquestionably remain the central institutions in the intellectual life of the Church. Not only will the education of the ministry continue to be done here, but the basic ideas for the mission of the Church and the widening of the Church's intellectual and theological horizons will, to a large extent, grow out of those academic communities that are committed to the service of Christ and his Church.

It is the responsibility of all of us, pastors and teachers alike, to welcome this new development. Whether we receive the graduates of these new departments as students in seminary, preach to them in our congregations, or minister to them while they are in college, the approach to our task must be deepened and radically changed. This new development may, indeed, be the clue that we have been seeking to the renewal of the Church in our time.

Faithfully yours,

James I. McCord

President

SUMMER, 1967 VOLUME VII · NUMBER IV

Commencement speaker J. Davis McCaughey, Master of Ormond College, Melbourne, Australia, speaking in University Chapel.

DEGREES GO

Eighty Bachelor of Divinity and fifteen Master of Religious Education degrees went to graduates at the 155th Annual Commencement held June 6 in the chapel of Princeton University. The advanced degrees of Master of Theology and Doctor of Theology were awarded to 86 candidates.

The Commencement speaker was the Reverend John Davis McCaughey, Master of Ormond College of the University of Melbourne, Australia, and presently Commonwealth Visiting Professor at Oxford University. McCaughey has been professor of Biblical Studies at Ormond College since 1954. The holder of an M.A. degree from Cambridge University, the Reverend Dr. McCaughey is the author of Christian Obedience in the University and the editor of Student Prayer. He is the co-author of two other volumes, The Christian in World Struggle and The Church's Unity.

The Reverend Dr. Peter K. Emmons, retiring President of the Seminary's Board of Trustees, preached the Baccalaureate sermon in the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton. Dr. Emmons graduated from Princeton University in 1912 and received his Bachelor of Divinity from Princeton Seminary in 1915. Following pastorates in Catasauqua and Stroudsburg, Pa., he served the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Scranton until his retirement in 1958. He holds honorary degrees from several colleges and universities, including Princeton University and Washington and Jefferson College.

More than 200 alumni took part in the June 5 Alumni Day program. A series of addresses, seminars and discussions on "The Future of Christian Mission," the Alumni Day theme, honored the centennial of the births of Robert E. Speer and Samuel M. Zwemer, major figures in the foreign mission movement of the early half of the century.

Dr. John Coventry Smith, general secretary of the United Presbyterian Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations; the Reverend Ernest T. Campbell, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor, Mich.; Professor M. Richard Shaull of Princeton Seminary; and the Reverend Ernest L. Fogg, a staff member of the Commission on Ecumenical Mission, also took part in the program. Dr. J. Christy Wilson, Dean Emeritus of Field Education, addressed the alumni at luncheon.

Seminary President James I. McCord spoke on "Whither American Protestantism?" at the annual Alumni Banquet that concluded the day's activities.

TEMPLETON HEADS TRUSTEES ... Adams Named Dean

John M. Templeton, Englewood, New Jersey, investment counselor, is the new President of the Board of Trustees. A member of the Board since 1951, Templeton succeeds the Reverend Dr. Peter K. Emmons of Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, Board President since 1948.

Board Secretary Frederick E. Christian, who announced the election at the June 6 Commencement, also announced the names of three new members of the Board of Trustees, the appointment of two deans, and other staff and faculty additions.

Robert L. McNeil, Jr., director of McNeil Laboratories of Philadelphia; Robert B. Munger, minister of the University Presbyterian Church of Seattle, Washington; and Clifford G. Pollock, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Morrisville, Pennsylvania, are the new Trustees.

The Reverend Dr. Bryant M. Kirkland, minister of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York City, was elected the Board's Vice-President to succeed Templeton. The Reverend Dr. Frederick E. Christian, minister of the Presbyterian Church of Westfield, New Jersey, continues as Secretary of the Board.

Named Dean of the Seminary is Dr. Arthur M. Adams, formerly Dean of Field Education and until 1962 the minister of the Central Presbyterian Church of Rochester, New York. Appointed Dean of Instruction is Dr. Samuel W. Blizzard, a member of the Princeton Seminary faculty since 1957 and for the past year Director of Student Studies. Both Adams and Blizzard hold concurrent professorial appointments, Adams as Professor of Practical Theology and Blizzard as Professor of Christianity and Society.

The Reverend Joseph P. H. Black, formerly Area Counselor for Philadelphia with the United Presbyterian $50,000,000 Capital Fund Campaign, was appointed Development Officer. A native of Seattle who earned the Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Theology degrees at Princeton Theological Seminary, Black directed $50 Million Fund activities in Philadelphia, San Francisco, Idaho and Utah.

McCord; Commencement Speaker J. Davis McCaughey of Ormond College, Australia; and Trustee Robert & Munger, minister of University Presbyterian Church, Seattle.

Faculty Appointments and Promotions Announced.

The appointment of four new faculty and staff members, and the promotion of three members of the present faculty were announced June 6 by President-James I. McCord.

Dr. Diogenes Allen, currently on the faculty of York University in Toronto, will become Associate Professor of Philosophy with the beginning of the 1967-68 academic year. Allen, who received his Ph.D. degree at Yale University in 1963 after studies at the University of Kentucky, Princeton University and Oxford, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, a former Princeton University National Fellow, and a Rhodes Scholar. He was for three years minister of the Windham, New Hampshire, Presbyterian Church, and was both a reader and a graduate assistant during his career at Yale.

Assistant Professors James Lapsley and James Loder were promoted to the rank of associate professor, Lapsley's appointment to take effect in September, 1967, with Loder moving to associate in September, 1968.

Lapsley is a graduate of Southwestern at Memphis (Phi Beta Kappa) and Union Seminary in Virginia (cum laude) who took his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago and was for a year in residence at the Menninger Foundation in Topeka. Loder, a member of the Class of 1957 at Princeton Seminary, is an alumnus of Carleton College and a Harvard University Ph.D. He held a research fellowship at the Menninger Foundation in 1961-62.

W. Malcolm Clark, for the past two years an Instructor in Old Testament, will become an assistant professor in that department with the opening of the 1967 academic year. Clark received his Ph.D. degree at Yale University in 1964, and then was in residence for a year at Hebrew University, Jerusalem. His undergraduate work was done at Harvard, and his B.D. is from Yale Divinity School.

Dr. Cullen I. K. Story, a Doctor of Theology summa cum laude at Princeton Seminary in 1964, will become Director of Summer Language Programs and Assistant Professor of New Testament. Since 1965 Story has been on the faculty of the College of the Ozarks. For eight years a missionary in Lebanon and a former home missionary in South Dakota and North Carolina, Story attended Johns Hopkins University where he earned an M.A. degree in 1943. In 1964 his Princeton Seminary doctoral dissertation was awarded a prize by the Christian Research Foundation. From 1961 to 1965 Story was an instructor in New Testament at the Seminary.

George Robert Jacks will join the faculty as an assistant in speech. A graduate of Princeton Seminary in 1959 who has done graduate work at the University of Michigan and Christian Theological Seminary, Jacks has served since 1962 at the First Presbyterian Church of Indianapolis. He has been a drama coach in high schools and directed productions in high schools, seminaries and churches.

Named Director of Audio-Visual Services is the Reverend Wayne Whitelock, who has been the assistant minister of First Presbyterian Church of Springfield, Virginia, since receiving his Th.M. degree at Princeton Seminary in 1965. Whitelock was a member of the B.D. class of 1964.

Commencement Speakers Call for a Ministry on the Move.

Be the kind of ministers that will make a difference, President McCord told members of the Class of 1967 in his farewell remarks at the June 5 Commencement. His words summed up the addresses heard by graduates at Baccalaureate and Commencement.

The Reverend Dr. J. Davis McCaughey, Master of Ormond College, Melbourne, Australia, told his Commencement audience that the future of Christian unity depended upon new approaches that will concentrate upon a renewal of the Christian faith, and variety of its expression, and a deepened commitment to theological reflection.

Baccalaureate preacher Peter K. Emmons, '15, who this year retired from the presidency of the Seminary's Trustees after serving on the Board for forty years, called upon the graduates to move beyond a ministry of services, rites and administration of the sacraments to a ministry in which they would "meet God and help others to meet God."

Dr. Emmons, who became Trustee President in 1948, said the new ministers of the Class of 1967 would be going forth to offer the world "the redeeming love and the life-transforming power of the crucified, risen and living Christ, who is the incarnation of the sovereign and redeeming God, the Lord of history."

". . . she must always be spending herself, . . ." Emmons said of the Church, and her ministers must continue to approach the sanctuary "not just to conduct religious exercises" but to meet God face to face, and to help others to come to know Him."

Dr. McCaughey said his theme was that "all these scandalously particular places . . . link us to areas of Christian truth beyond our particular experience, and ultimately to truths beyond any experience." He included the Biblical witness, the sacraments, creedal statements and confessions in his particularizations.

If unity is to be achieved, the Commencement speaker said, four major factors must be kept clear:

- 1. People must be directed toward Jesus Christ's Gospel, which is a "preached message which lies beyond both Bible and Church."
- 2. The Church must become committed to Scripture because it contains "the texts from which the Church preaches." As far as Christian unity is concerned, this commitment to the whole Biblical witness as a basis of proclamation is more important than discussions of inspiration or authority.
- 3. The Sacraments must be approached on the basis of their use in the renewal of faith and life, not on theological definitions of their nature.
  - 4. Renewal must also be sought in the use of the classic creeds as acts of worship rather than as tests of orthodoxy.

McCaughey was especially concerned that renewed attention be given to creedal formulations which "speak the language of the universal Church." He also called for fresh attention to Reformation confessions, not as statements of "the system of doctrine taught in Holy Scripture" but as dependable markers of the way the Church has travelled to her present position, taking full account of the historical situation in which the confessions were written.

The minister of today, McCaughey said, is called upon "to maintain the Christian tradition in a state of fluidity," a remark he attributed to Daniel Jenkins.

"In a day when too much so-called theology is Philistine about the past, the Church needs a ministry characterized by reverence towards the past as well as openness to the future."

President James I. McCord, whose farewell remarks to the graduates concluded the Commencement exercises, warned that "Inever in my memory has more been expected of a minister than today." The President urged the degree winners to keep moving forward in three major areas of life—professional competence, theological growth, and Christian action. "Let us not lay over and over again the foundation truths," he quoted from Hebrews. "No, if God allows, let us go on."

Martin Marty to Conduct Sept. 14-15 Alumni Conference

Martin E. Marty, chairman of the historical field at the Divinity School of the University of Chicago and associate editor of The Christian Century, will be the speaker for the 1967 Autumn Alumni Conference, scheduled for Thursday and Friday, September 14-15.

Marty, a Lutheran clergyman who served pastorates in Washington and Chicago for ten years, will speak three times during the twenty-four hour conference, and lead discussion after each lecture.

The conference opens with registration at 2:00 p.m., on Thursday, September 14. Following a 2:45 p.m., service of worship led by alumni President Charles Mc-Kirachan, administrative stated clerk of the Presbytery of Cincinnati, the first lecture by Dr. Marty will begin at 3:00 p.m.

Registration materials will be mailed during July to alumni within a day's drive of the Seminary. Other former students who wish to register for the conference are asked to write the Secretary of the Seminary, Arthur M. Byers. The cost for registration, three meals and lodging for the night of September 14 will be $8.50. A $3.50 registration fee has been established for persons who do not require housing or meals.

The conference will conclude with a service of Holy Communion at 11:00 a.m. on Friday, September 15, with President James I. McCord preaching. A concluding luncheon will be served.

Educated at Concordia Seminary in St. Louis and at the University of Chicago, Marty is the author and co-author of more than a dozen books as well as numerous articles, essays and reviews. His most recent publications include Varieties of Unbelief, Youth Considers "Do It Yourself Religion," and Babylon by Choice.

Construction and Remodeling Fill Campus Summer Schedule

Princeton Seminary's new "corporation yard" went into service during the first week in July, giving the Seminary its first maintenance and storage facility as well as a new heating plant.

Built with a total of $1,000,000 in gifts from the $50 Million Fund, the new structure is setting off a chain of remodeling and relocation projects across the campus. Four other buildings are scheduled for construction projects as a result of the completion of the heating and maintenance plant, and two additional remodeling projects are also scheduled.

Deep trenches are already cutting across the campus as new steam lines spread out from the corporation year. Springdale looked ready for siege in late June as the residence of President and Mrs. McCord, which is the closest building to the new heating plant, was surrounded by ditches up to six feet deep. The construction of the new facility had long been in the Seminary's plans, but became an urgent project two years ago when the old boilers failed to pass the required annual inspection.

Campus planners had advised the Seminary of the necessity of expanded heating capacity before any new construction could be initiated. With a classroom building and an additional dormitory already visible in the future, the new steam plant can supply adequate heat for the existing campus with only two of its three boilers in service. In addition to providing a safety margin for emergencies and repairs with its current capacity, the plant can accommodate a fourth boiler whenever increased output becomes necessary.

The new corporation yard. The building unit on the left will house maintenance shops and storage, with the new heating plant in the center behind the tree. The end of the garage building is visible at the right.

The major new construction project made possible by the corporation yard will be a Student Services Center, which will be located in the old boiler house. With coal bunkers and garages bulldozed away and a complete renovation, the building will provide some 5,000 square feet of new office space.

Scheduled to move into the Student Services Center by New Year's Day are the Field Education Department, the Office of the Secretary of the Seminary, the Director of Student Relations, the Director of Housing and Employment and the Dean of Instruction. The new Services Center will have adequate parking for staff and visitors, as well as conference room space for pastors and committees who come to the campus to interview students for field education placement and vacancies in local churches.

The transfers will vacate rooms in Hodge Hall that will be returned to dormitory use as the Seminary receives this Fall the largest entering class in its history. The entire first floor of Hodge has been occupied by offices this year.

New office space will also be gained as Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings Thomas W. Brian transfers to the corporation yard all of the plumbing,

FRIENDS HEAR TALKS ON CATHOLIC AND PROTESTANT SEMINARIES

Protestant and Roman Catholic programs for educating future clergymen were described to the Friends of Princeton Seminary at the annual meeting held May 11 at Princeton Seminary. Speakers addressing the Friends organization discussed theological education in the present and future from both Roman Catholic and Protestant perspectives.

The three speakers were: The Reverend Walter D. Wagoner, recently named associate dean of the Graduate Theological Union at Berkeley, California, who published the book, The Seminary: Protestant and Catholic; Father Henry Beck, former professor at the Immaculate Conception Seminary, Darlington, New Jersey, and presently the pastor of the Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church, Lyndhurst, New Jersey; and Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen, the Charles R. Erdman Professor of Pastoral Theology at Princeton Theological Seminary.

Father Beck presented "A Catholic View of Theological Education." A Protestant perspective was discussed by Dr. Homrighausen and Dean Wagoner concluded the program with a discussion of "Patterns of the Future" in theological education.

Walter D. Wagoner, 1959 Th.M. graduate, recently named academic dean of the Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley, California, addressed the May 11 meeting of The Friends of Princeton Seminary. The Friends heard Monsignor Henry Beck, pastor of Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church of Lyndhurst, N.J., and Professor E. G. Homrighausen, '24, as well as Wagoner. Beck described developments in Roman Catholic Theological education and Homrighausen spoke of current trends in Protestant divinity schools. Wagoner, the concluding speaker, outlined possible future patterns of American theological education.

Princeton Seminary alumni contributed a total of $29,713.72 in cash and pledges to the 1967 Alumni Roll Call, outgoing President Frank Watson, '57, reported at the Alumni Banquet on June 4.

A record total of 1,100 responses to the Roll Call were logged, including one hundred and two second gifts. At Commencement in 1966 the number of participants in the annual alumni giving program stood at 1,078. Nearly 19% of the 5,482 alumni on the Seminary's mailing lists took part in the Roll Call, the highest response to date. The record total of contributions is more than double last year's receipts of $14,451.25.

New to the list of contributors this year were eighty-seven alumni who made their first gifts since graduation to the annual giving program. A new scholarship endowment fund was established by the Class of 1942 as the class celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary, bringing the total of such funds to four. The three previous scholarship funds were set up by the Classes of 1904, 1915 and 1916. In providing such an endowment the class combines the giving of its members into a single gift which becomes a part of the Seminary's endowment funds. Each year the income from the fund is used for scholarship help to a needy student.

Here is the giving record of the alumni, by classes, to the 1967 Roll Call:

LANG HEADS PITTSBURGH AREA ALUMNI

Alumni in the Pittsburgh area named Bickford Lang, '48, minister of Fox Chapel Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, to a two-year term as president of the area alumni association at a meeting held May 8, at Pittsburgh's Third Presbyterian Church.

Sixty-two alumni and wives attended the meeting to hear Seminary President James I. McCord speak on "The Two Faces of Africa." The meeting opened at 4:30 p.m., with Dr. McCord's remarks and a discussion period, followed by dinner.

Also elected as officers of the area alumni group were Jerry E. Flanigan, '56, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Kittaning, vice president; and Melvin L. Best, '28, associate minister of Pittsburgh's Third Presbyterian Church, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Alumni Day Attendance Up As New Seminar Begins

More than 200 former students and other guests took part in the 1967 Alumni Day program June 5, and the first session of a June Alumni Seminar added a continuing education element to the yearly event.

Secretary of the Seminary Arthur M. Byers, Jr., registered 180 former students for Alumni Day, with twenty-seven additional participants. They heard a series of addresses and discussions on "The Future of the Christian Mission" from leadership that included Dr. John Coventry Smith, COEMAR general secretary; the Reverend Ernest L. Fogg of COEMAR's Department of Interchurch Action; Ecumenics Professor M. Richard Shaull, '41, Dr. J. Christy Wilson, '19, Dean of Field Service Emeritus; and the Reverend Ernest T. Campbell, '48, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor, Mich.

New to the Alumni Day schedule was a seminar held in the Center of Continuing Education. Six former students registered for the seminar, which ran from June 6 to June 8, providing a four-day program for alumni who desired a more extended period of study on campus. Members of the faculty discussed a variety of topics during the seminar, including theology, learning processes, church administration and personality studies.

The Alumni Day program was the second event of the year honoring the centennial of the births of Robert E. Speer, '93, and Samuel M. Zwemer, Professor of the History of Religions and Christian Missions from 1929 to 1936. An earlier convocation brought the faculty and student body of New Brunswick Theological Seminary to the campus for a dinner and two lectures on the work of Speer and Zwemer.

Campbell, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor, Mich., signs up a 1948 classmate, James B. Ollis, minister of the United Campus Christian Fellowship at Indiana University. Looking on is Seminary Dean Arthur M. Adams, '34.

Lower left: The Class of 1927 marked forty years of service on Alumni Day. Present for the reunion were Gladstone P. Cooley, Phillip Goertz, Albert J. Sanders, Edward H. Rian, Samuel S. Rizzo and Valentine S. Alison.

Upper right: The Class of 1917 gathered for their fiftieth anniversary in the Campus Center as the Alumni Day program opened. Left to right above: Sam C. Henderson, William Miller, Harry Ulrich, Robert S. Axtell, and Dick Henry Middents. Not pictured is Harry W. Richmond, who also attended. Below, the 1917 graduates are joined by others as they listen to letters from classmates unable to attend.

A new communion service for Miller Chapel was dedicated March 17. The service is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gambrell of The Brick Presbyterian Church of New York City. Taking part in the dedicatory service were: left to right; President James I. McCord; the Reverend Chase Hunt, a member of the pastoral staff at Brick Church; and Professor Donald Macleod of the Homiletics Department.

SEMINARY PRESIDENT RETURNS FROM HUNGARIAN CELEBRATION

President James I. McCord of Princeton Theological Seminary was a major speaker at the May 19-20 celebrations marking the 400th anniversary of the Reformed Church of Hungary at Debrecen, Hungary.

Representing both Princeton Seminary and the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., President McCord spoke on "The Ministry of Theology and the Servant Church." He was awarded the degree of Doctor of Theology, honoris causa, by the Reformed Theological Academy of Debrecen during the celebrations. Of the eight theologians so honored, McCord was the only American.

The Reformed Church of Hungary has approximately 2,000,000 members, with an additional million members living in areas outside the borders of modern Hungary. The celebrations this year commemorated the adoption of the Second Helvetic Confession of Faith by the Hungarian Reformed Church.

MERRILL TRUST INCREASES AID TO PRINCETON SEMINARY STUDENTS

A grant of $25,000 to Princeton Theological Seminary has been announced by The Charles E. Merrill Trust of New York, New York. The grant will increase the number of Charles E. Merrill Scholarships for the assistance of ministerial students at the Seminary.

The grant is the second made to Princeton Seminary by The Merrill Trust, which was established by the late Charles E. Merrill, founder of the investment firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc. In addition to its interest in theological education and religion, The Merrill Trust has extended grants to hospitals, welfare programs, secondary schools and colleges.

ALUMNI DAY ATTENDANCE UP AS NEW SEMINAR BEGINS

Named president of the Alumni Association at the banquet concluding the day's events was J. Charles McKirachan, '33, executive of the Presbytery of Cincinnati. The new vice president is James R. Carroll, '42, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Amarillo, Texas. Henry B. Strock, Jr., '52, minister of the Wyoming Presbyterian Church of Millburn, N.J., was elected secretary-treasurer.

New members of the Executive Council are: Thomas F. Luce, '45, Wilmington, Dela.; McKirachan; and W. Edmund Carver, '53, Cherry Hill, N.J.

Introduced to the alumni was the newly-elected Alumni Trustee, who was installed during the Commencement period. He is Robert B. Munger, '36, minister of University Presbyterian Church of Seattle.

The Class of 1962 gathered the largest group for reunion. Their total of nineteen was closely followed by the eighteen who registered for the tenth reunion of the Class of 1957. Other totals for reunion classes were:

1912 — 2	1927 — 6	1942 — 15
1917 — 5	1932 — 9	1947 7
1922 — 8	1937 7	1952 — 4

Honored as senior alumnus was the Reverend Dr. Otto Braskamp, right, Class of 1910. With him are Frederick E. Christian, 34, minister, Presbyterian Church of Westfield, N.J., secretary of the Board of Trustees; C. Fred Mathias, left, '57, minister First Presbyterian Church of Wilmington, Del. Braskamp, former missionary in China, served pastorates in Washington, D.C., Minnesota, Iowa and California before retiring to his present home in Pasadena, Calif.

A. H. Behrenberg, '38, right, brought a group of officers and members from his congregation, First Presbyterian Church of Metuchen, N.J., for the dedication of two apartments at the Seminary's Princeton Windsor complex on May 28. The two apartments were paid for by $50 Million Fund gifts from the Metuchen congregation.

SEMINARY ADMISSIONS CHIEF JOINS DENVER LAW FACULTY

Dr. James E. Wallace, '60, Princeton Seminary's Admissions Officer for the past two years, has been named an associate professor at the University of Denver College of Law, and director of the College's Professional Responsibility Program.

Wallace, a graduate of the UCLA law school, was a partner in the Los Angeles firm of Adams, Duque and Hazeltine before coming to Princeton in 1957 to enter Seminary.

He remained at Princeton Seminary for graduate study in religion and society, receiving his Doctor of Theology degree magna cum laude in 1965. He was a teaching fellow from 1960 to 1963 and held an assistant professorship concurrently with his appointment as Admissions Officer.

Dean Robert B. Yegge of the Denver law faculty, who said Wallace will join the Denver staff on September 1, announced that Wallace would be one of the very few theologian-lawyers serving on a law faculty. Wallace's book The Ministry as Profession is soon to be published by Random House.

DOCTORAL STUDENT ATTENDS TOURISM CONFERENCE IN ROME

Donald H. Liebert, a doctoral candidate whose study Summer Vacationers and the Church has been published by the Board of National Missions, was a delegate to the April Congress on "The Spiritual Values of Tourism" held in Rome under the joint sponsorship of the Italian government, the International Union of Official Tourist Organizations and the Vatican's Pastoral Tourist Center.

The congress provided a research opportunity for Liebert's dissertation project on the relationship between religion and the phenomenon of leisure. Liebert currently serves as a member of the Task Force on Leisure of the National Council of Churches.

The Distinguished Alumnus award for 1967 was presented to H. Ganse Little, '29, at the alumni banquet held in Portland, Ore., during the May meeting of General Assembly. Dr. Little (left) received the silver bowl engraved with his citation from President Emeritus John A. Mackay, '15. Now minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Pasadena, California, distinguished Alumnus Little was Moderator of the 178th General Assembly (Boston). With them is Dean Arthur M. Adams, '34.

The National Science Foundation will provide a grant of $2,800 to support a research project in Africa by David Wiley, Princeton Seminary doctoral candidate currently studying socio-economic change in Africa.

Wiley, a graduate of Wabash College and Yale Divinity School, completed his doctoral residence at Princeton Seminary in 1966. For the past year he has been living in Zambia, where he has begun the research to be supported by the N.S.F.

The project will analyze the relationship between social position and religious membership and attitudes toward socioeconomic change. The study will be conducted in the urban center of Lusaka, Zambia, an administrative center with a population of about 160,000.

Wiley, who spent the years of 1961-63 in Africa and in 1958 was a member of the first U.S. student exchange group visiting in Russia, expects to complete his research late this year and return to Princeton Seminary to prepare his results for publication.

TEMPLETON HEADS TRUSTEES . . . ADAMS NAMED DEAN

Also named to the administrative staff of the Seminary is the Reverend David T. Tomlinson, who became Admissions Officer at the close of the 1966-67 academic year. An alumnus of Princeton Seminary holding both the Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Theology degrees, Tomlinson has for the past year served as an assistant to the Dean of Field Education.

John M. Templeton, who began his duties as President of the Trustees at the April 24-25 Board meeting that approved the new appointments, is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Yale University who attended Oxford's Balliol College as a Rhodes Scholar. He has been president, treasurer and director of Templeton, Dubrow and Vance, Inc., of New York City and Englewood since 1941. He also heads the Securities Fund, Inc., and Templeton Growth Fund of Canada, Ltd. From 1937 to 1941 he was with the National Geophysical Co. of Dallas and New York, lastly as vice-president and director. Mr. Templeton's civic activities include terms as chairman of the Bergen County YMCA, as a director of the Englewood Community Chest and a trustee of Englewood Hospital, and membership on the Boards of Trustees of the Wrightson-Switz Foundation and of Wilson College in Pennsylvania. He is a member of the United Presbyterian Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations.

Templeton has contributed articles to financial publications, and is past governor of the Investment Counsel Association of America and a member of Social Security Analysts.

Robert L. McNeil, Jr., comes to the Seminary's Board of Trustees after six years' membership on the Seminary's Board of Development. He has been with McNeil Laboratories since 1938, first as research chemist, later as Director of the Research Department, and from 1956 to 1964 as Vice-President and Chairman. He became a Director in 1941, and has also been a director of VanZant and Co., Ltd., of Canada, McNeil Laboratories (Canada) Ltd., and McNeil de Mexico S.A. de C.V. He is currently a director of Refractory Specialties Co., Refractory Specialties Sales Co., and Resco Products.

A graduate of Yale University and the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, McNeil has been a lecturer at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science and at Temple University. He was a member of the Pharmaceutical Advisory Committee of the National Production Authority (successor to the War Production Board). Mr. McNeil is a past president of the Philadelphia Drug Exchange and of the Philadelphia Branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association, and has been a director of the American Pharmeceutical Manufacturers' Greater Philadelphia Association, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Philadelphia Section of the American Chemical Society.

Mr. McNeil's civic activities include the vice presidency of the Philadelphia Museum of Art, and directorships or trusteeships of Germantown Academy, the Germantown YMCA, the American Cancer Society (Philadelphia Section), the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania and the University of Pennsylvania Plan to Develop Scientists in Medical Research.

The Reverend Dr. Clifford G. Pollock served as an Alumni Trustee of Princeton Seminary from 1957-1960. Minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Morrisville, Pennsylvania, since his graduation from Princeton Seminary in 1937, he has served on the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian Church since 1955, and was a member of the denomination's Committee on Deacons and Trustees in 1953. He has been a trustee of the College of the Ozarks in Arkansas and is a past president of the Princeton Seminary Alumni Association. He has been honored by the College of the Ozarks with the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

The Reverend Dr. Robert B. Munger comes to the Seminary's Board as Alumni Trustee for the 1967-1970 term. A graduate of both the University of California and Princeton Seminary and the holder of an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Whitworth College in Washington, Munger served as minister of the South Hollywood, California, Presbyterian Church from 1936 to 1945, and was then minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley, California, until going to his present post in 1962.

A frequent lecturer, preacher and religious emphasis program leader on college and university campuses, Munger is a member of the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations of the United Presbyterian Church. He has taken part in numerous preaching missions and consultations in Asia, the Middle East and Latin America, and is the author of the book What Jesus Says. More than 250 persons have gone into Church careers during his ministry in the three churches he has served.

CONSTRUCTION AND REMODELING

carpentry and painting shops now located in the Hodge Hall basement. The old shops will be renovated to become an enlarged duplicating and mailing center. These two services are currently based in cramped quarters in the basement of the Administration Building.

The student publications program will also move into the newly remodeled space in the Hodge basement. Student publications, currently responsible for three separate periodicals, is one of the Seminary's heaviest mailers and needs access to the duplicating and mailing center.

Stuart Hall will also be affected by the Summer construction boom as the old "one-way" heating system is removed in favor of a supply-and-return system that gives each classroom independent control of its heating system and provides a greater operating economy.

The Administration Building itself will go through a period of office shuffling and redecorating as space is vacated and working units are transferred from Hodge to provide more student housing.

Two other projects, not related to the new heating plant and the transfers it makes possible, are also underway at this time. The offices of the Department of Christian Education, housed between North and South Halls on the old Hun School campus, are being completely reconstructed. Up until this time some Christian education staff members have been officed in large rooms formerly used for prep school lecture classes, and also in a former kitchen. The new facilities will provide an increased number of smaller offices. An additional gain for the church educators will be expanded space for the growing collection in the Reigner

Campus visitors who have waited out snack bar lines for a sandwich only to find every table full will be encouraged by a scheduled enlargement of the Campus Center Snack Bar, which gets underway in late July. At the expense of giving up one of the guest rooms in the same area of the building, the capacity of the snack bar will be almost doubled. In addition to the counter service now available, a complete line of automatic vending machines will be installed. Customers will have a choice of hot and cold beverages and hot and cold sandwiches. The new vending machines will be in operation twenty-four hours a day.

Reading Room, a specialized educational

In the confusion of construction crews, steam line test instruments and ditches that appear and vanish daily, the Seminary also took possession of its first major piece of new campus since World War II, when the Hun School property was purchased to provide a home for the Christian education program. Princeton Borough police, tax, welfare and administrative offices are scheduled to move in late Summer to their new Borough Hall a block nearer to the center of town. The old Borough Hall property, also purchased with $50 Million Fund help, comes under Seminary control at that time, giving the Seminary the remainder of the block between Speer Library and Trinity Episcopal Church. No plans have been made for the use of the mansion and carriage house on the property.

FACULTY NOTES

PRESIDENT JAMES I. McCORD spoke at General Theological Seminary's chapel services April 10, and participated in the installation services for Stanley E. Nie-bruegge in Lansdowne, Pennsylvania, the following Sunday. In mid-April Dr. Mc-Cord attend a meeting of Philadelphia alumni and participated in a week-long program at the Seminary's Center of Continuing Education. President McCord attended the Consultation on Church Union in Cambridge, Mass., and on May 7 participated in tenth anniversary services at Trinity Presbyterian Church, Cherry Hill, New Jersey. Following a meeting in Pitts-burgh with Princeton alumni, McCord flew to Debrecen, Hungary, to join in the 400th anniversary recognition of the Hungarian Reformed Church, and then took part in the 179th General Assembly in Portland. At Hanover College he spoke to the Synod of Indiana on the work of the Consultation on Church Union.

MISS FREDA GARDNER, Assistant Professor of Christian Education was the speaker at various meetings in Haddonfield and Westfield, New Jersey, and Takoma Park, Maryland. In addition, Miss Gardner was a participant in the June 5 alumni seminar at the Center of Continuing Education.

Trenton State College's Conference on Religion and Science, the Navy Postgraduate School at Monterey, Calif., the Indiana-Kentucky Conference of the United Church of Christ, and the East Central States Y.M.C.A. Conference all heard addresses this spring by ELMER G. HOM-RIGHAUSEN, Professor of Pastoral Theology. Other responsibilities took Homrighausen to the annual meetings of the Hood College trustees, the World Council on Christian Education (North American Committee), the Consultation on Theological Education of COEMAR, and the Devotional Life Committee of the American Association of Theological Schools. Preaching engagements took him to churches in West Chester, Pa., Sheboygan, Wis., Indianapolis, Ind., and Baltimore, Md. He was the preacher for the installation of the new executive stated clerk of Cincinnati Presbytery.

DR. DONALD MACLEOD, Professor of Homiletics, continued his service as interim preacher at the Broadway Presbyterian Church, New York City, and delivered sermons in the Princeton University Chapel and the First Presbyterian Church, Germantown, Pennsylvania. Other engagements included an address on "Presbyterian Worship" at the annual elders' dinner of the Westfield Presbyterian Church and its theme address at the spring meeting of the Worship Commission of the North East Conference of the Methodist Church. Dr. Macleod also gave the sermon at the festival service of the American Guild of Organists at Saint James Episcopal Church, Lancaster, Pa. During May Macleod attended the sessions of the General Assembly's Committee on standardized presbytery examinations and the special meeting of the Council of Theological Education, June 23, in Chicago.

DR. RICHARD SHAULL delivered a series of lectures at a number of institutions this spring, including Harvard University, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Crozer Theological Seminary, and Carleton College. He also attended the Annual Assembly of the University Christian Movement held in Chicago.

DR. CHARLES C. WEST delivered this year's T.V. Moore lectures at San Francisco Theological Seminary on the topic "Theology, Ideology, and Social Change."

In mid-April he lectured on "The Emerging Christian-Marxist Dialogue" at the yearly meeting of the United States Committee for the Christian Peace Conference. During May Dr. West lectured on the Bross Foundation at Lake Forest College, III., on the topic of "Studies in Secularism and Christian Witness." Professor West was the Baccalaureate preacher on June 4, at graduation exercises of Upsala College in East Orange, New Jersey.
